The above Steamers convey Passengers to Marseilles, Plymouth and London.
Passengers for Brindisi tranship to a connecting steamer at Port Said.

HEAVY BAGGAGE must be sent to the BALLARD PIER on FRIDAY AFTERNOON the day previous to sailing, and CABIN BAGGAGE before 9 A.M. on SATURDAY. The attention of Passengers is called to the importance of having their Baggage labelled with Port of Destination.

Tenders leave the Ballard Pier on day of sailing.

All Passengers must attend at that place between 12 and 12-30 o'clock P.M. for Medical Inspection by the Health Officer of the Port, and no one will be allowed on Board the Mail Steamer unless so examined, and conveyed thence in the Company's Steam Barges. Special attention is directed to these regulations, which are imperative under the Venice Convention.

Friends of passengers cannot go on Board the Mail Steamer.

TO COLOMBO, STRAITS, CHINA, AND AUSTRALIA.

The Company's Steamers leave Bombay fortnightly usually on TUESDAYS, taking Passengers for the Straits, China, and Japan, and Return Tickets are issued on favourable terms.

Cargo Steamers are despatched to China at frequent intervals calling at ports en route.

SHELL MOTOR SPIRIT

Has been proved to be superior to any other Spirit on the English Market.

ON THE SEA.

"Napier Major"—The longest motor-boat run—used SHELL.

SCOTTISH RELIABILITY TRIALS. 595 miles.

The most severe road Test known : lowest Petrol consumption per ton mile over whole course. Won by Arrol Johnstone 12 H. P. Car, 43·8 miles per gallon, used "Shell." I. S. Napier Esq. Driver.

FOR SPEED AND RELIABILITY.

Gordon-Bennett Eliminating Trials, Isle of Man. The Fastest car, "The Napier," used "Shell". W. Clifford Earp, Esq., Driver.
Bicycle Eliminating Trials, Isle of Man. The winner "Arial" Motor Bicycle used "Shell" I. Campbell, Esq., Driver.

According to the comparison of the various Spirits conducted by the Editor of the 'Motor" and reported in "The Motor" of May 23rd, 1905, the consumption of Petrol per Brake Horse Power per hour according to the average of four trials of each was shown as follows :—

Shell	Carburine	Whitaker's	Pratts	Bowleys	Carless	Motol
·089 Galls.	·094	·099	·103	·104	·106	·107

The Motor Spirit now being imported into India by the Asiatic Petroleum Co. is the IDENTICAL spirit now being sold in England as

SHELL MOTOR SPIRIT.

SHELL spirit is now so universally demanded that it is important all dealers should know when offering the Asiatic Petroleum Company's Spirit that they are not selling a new and unknown Petrol but the identical spirit which has won such a prominent position in England under the name of

SHELL MOTOR SPIRIT,

AS ALL DEALERS DO NOT STOCK THIS SPIRIT consumers when buying should enquire what spirit is being offered them.

HURTER'S

ZELTINGER.

We beg to direct attention to Messrs. Hurter's 1897 Vintage Zeltinger (Moselle). This wine is the same as is supplied to the Imperial Household of Germany.

Hurter's Zeltinger is guaranteed to be perfectly pure, and it possesses a charming and characteristic bouquet. Besides being grateful to the palate it is easily digestible.

Hurter's Zeltinger is invaluable as a beverage in Gout and Rheumatism, and is indispensable in the adynamic forms of these diseases.

From H. R. H. THE PRINCE OF WALES.
Marlborough House, Pall Mall.

SIRS,—Please send three dozen of your "Zeltinger's wine, as soon as possible to Clarence House, St. James," and three dozen more of the same Wine to Sandringham, Norfolk. Have both lots of Wine directed, to "The Comptroller of the Prince of Wales's Household."

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) D. M. PROBYN, MAJOR-GENERAL,
Comptroller and Treasurer.

MALARIA ! CHALLENGE OF Rs. 5,000.

BATLIWALLA'S AGUE PILLS OR MIXTURE.

GUARANTEED TO CURE OR MONEY BACK.

BATLIWALLA'S AGUE PILLS or MIXTURE drives all the poisonous Malarial germs out of the body. It is truly wonderful that this dread disease can be cured so readily, but it can and that is all you need to think about. If you buy a bottle of BATLIWALLA'S AGUE PILLS or MIXTURE and if it does not cure your Influenza Malarious, intermittent and Bilious Fevers and mild form of Plague, let me know at once and I will refund your money. I want no man's money unless I am satisfied that Batliwalla's remedies has given him more than his money's worth. Can you blame me for being enthusiatic about the efficacy of Batliwalla's Remedies ? I have been selling them for years all over this country and in other countries. Batliwalla's Ague Mixture has attained such a high reputation in the Bombay Druggist's market that if I agree to take only one Rupee per dozen less than the market rate, I can sell one thousand dozens of it in one day only I offer a challenge of Rs. 5,000 to any one who can disprove this statement.

BATLIWALLA'S EMBIRIL TONIC PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE.

GUARANTEED TO CURE OR MONEY BACK.

A valuable remedy in all cases of Nervous exhaustion, Melancholia, Pale Shallow complexion, Overwrought brain-work, Impotency, Constitutional weakness, Seminal emission in sleep, Early stage of Consumption, Indigestion, Impairment of understanding due to excessive indulgence and many other ailments to which the human frame is subjected. In cases of prematurely aged persons these Pills are found highly effective. They are highly recommended to all busy workers who earn their living not by muscle, but by their brains, and to students and scholars, growing boys and girls, who in addition to perhaps inheriting a feeble constitution, are educated on the modern system of cram and overwrought brainwork. These Pills have been found to be powerful and rapid restorer of mental and physical vigour. They restore the diminished capacity for intellectual work, the loss of appetite and imperfect digestion.

PRICE Rs. 1-8 PER BOTTLE.

Batliwalla's Ague Pills or Mixture and Batliwalla's Embiril Tonic Pills (for Pale People) may be had from TREACHER and Co., Kemp and Co., PHILLIPS and Co., BEYNON and Co., etc., etc., etc. or from the Sole Manufacturers, DR. H. L. BATLIWALLA, Worli, Dadar, Bombay. Discount to the Trade.

DR. DE ROOS'
WORLD-FAMED
GUTTÆ VITÆ
Or, LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Exhaustion.

This remarkable rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay or deficiency of the Vital Forces, owing to solitary vice, overwork, excesses, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, indigestion, depression—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the Faculty as incurable, and left to drag out the remainder of their existence a misery to themselves, and a continual anxiety to their friends. In all cases of nervous and functional debility, epilepsy, impotency and poorness of the blood, aversion to and incapacity for society, study or business, giddiness, disturbed sleep, haunting dreams, loss of memory, and other symptoms, the result of self-acquired ailments that embitter and shorten life, it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incompetency. Price 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per bottle.

Dr. DE ROOS' COMPOUND RENAL PILLS, for Pains in the Back, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Diabetes, and all Kidney Affections; weakness across the loins, Sandy or other Deposits, Dizziness, and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally. Price 2s. 9d.

Dr. DE ROOS' VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS, for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels; whilst as a universal family medicine for both sexes, and all ages, they are unequalled. 13½d. and 2s. 9d. per Box.

Dr. DE ROOS' PILE AND FISTULA PILLS, the only reliable remedy for these annoying and painful ailments. The first dose gives relief, and in all ordinary cases a few days only are necessary to effect a cure. Price 2s. 9d. per Box.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sake of extra profit.

DEBILITATED and NERVOUS SUFFERERS should read the "Medical Adviser," by Dr. De Roos, on the secret causes of nervous debility, impotency, depression of spirits, and confirmed melancholy. Price 1s., post free from Mr. LAWES, Medical Publisher, 14 Hand Court, Holborn, London, W.C., or obtainable of the Agents for Dr. De Roos' Medicines.

Sold by TREACHER & Co. Ltd., Bombay; Byculla, Poona.

BOMBAY IMPROVEMENT TRUST.

At a special meeting of the Bombay Improvement Trust held yesterday, the Hon. Mr. G. O. W. Dunn presided, and there were also present Brigadier General R. M. Greenfield, the Hon. Sir Walter Hughes, Mr. T. W. Cuffe, Mr. W. D. Sheppard, Sir Sassoon J. David, Sir Bhalchandra Krishna, the Hon. Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtula, Dr. A. G. Viegas, Mr. D. E Watcha, Mr. Dwarkadas Dharamsey, and Mr. W. N. Shilstone, Secretary,

SEMI PERMANENT HUTS IN SCHEME III

The meeting considered a memorandum by the chairman on a letter from the Engineer, submitting a plan and estimates amounting to Rs. 48,80 for providing semi-permanent huts for the poor in scheme 7II, near Charni and Girgaon Roads for persons displaced by the demolition of properties.

In reply to Dr. Viegas, the chairman explained that the total number of persons who would be displaced by the scheme had not been ascertained, but particulars would be furnished showing such figures for the respective sections in which houses were to be demolished.

Sanction was accorded to the construction of 234 rooms at an estimated cost of Rs. 40,154, including contingencies, the expenditure being debited to the loan of 12 lakhs in the sanctioned estimates. In question of the alteration of houses to provide an additional 131 rooms was reserved for further consideration.

PRINCESS STREET.

The chairman mentioned that as regards the late auction sale of lands at the Prince's Street, all the purchasers, with one exception, had paid in their further deposits; and in some cases plans had been received in the rough for informal inspection. As regards one purchaser who had not paid, the chairman understood that the bid was made on a misunderstanding as to which plot was being sold; and he was making enquiries as to the desirability of enforcing forfeiture of this deposit in the case, for breach of agreement in not paying the further deposit. The chairman mentioned that he made this statement on account of its having come to his ears that certain absurd rumours were current as to some of the buyers endeavouring to get out of their agreement.

After transacting some other business, the meeting adjourned.

A NOTORIOUS CHARACTER.—At the Mazagon Police Court, yesterday, before Mr. C. H. Setalvad, acting Fourth Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Gough charged Luxmon Tookaram, a notorious character, with cheating a Hindu lad, named Maruti Lungaji, in respect of ornaments of the value of Rs. 15. From the evidence it would appear that on the 12th instant accused got the boy employed under his own mistress. Early on the morning of the 15th instant he was taking the boy to work when on the way he removed the ornaments from the lad's person, telling him that the lad's mother had told him to do so. Subsequently accused disappeared with the ornaments and was not arrested till yesterday. His Worship sentenced the accused to two years' rigorous imprisonment, two months of which will be in solitary confinement.

CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST.—Yesterday at the Esplanade Police Court, Mr. Kersandas Chablidas, Third Presidency Magistrate, disposed of the case in which Inspector Bodley charged Vishnoo Oomaji with criminal breath of trust in respect of a cheque for Rs. 90, passed by Major Treacher in favour of B. Smith. The evidence of Mrs. R. E. Treacher, wife of Major Treacher, went to show that the accused was a butler in her employ. On the 26th of April 1903, Major Treacher, in witness' presence gave the accused the cheque in question to be delivered to Major Smith. She then left for New Zealand where she received information that her husband had to pay the amount of the cheque a second time to Major Smith. On her return to Bombay she made a complaint to the police about the accused who was subsequently arrested at Poona. His Worship convicted the accused and sentenced him to pay a fine of Rs. 150 or in default to undergo three months' rigorous imprisonment.

SAD DEATH FROM A CARRIAGE ACCIDENT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

COLOMBO, JAN. 17.

The Ceylon Times' correspondent at Singapore states:—The death occurred at Singapore of Mr. Chope, the P. and O. Agent at Singapore, as the result of a trap accident. Mr. Chope was thrown heavily, breaking his ribs which penetrated his lungs.

Captain Peters, Commander of the P. and O. s. s. Malta, whilst standing on the companion ladder of the Malta, which was lying in the Colombo Harbour yesterday assisting ladies to alight, slipped and fell between the ladder and a launch, crushing his foot.

THE POONA SEDITION CASE.

CHARGE FRAMED AGAINST THE ACCUSED.

TO-DAY, at the Esplanade Police Court before Mr. N. W. Kemp, Chief Presidency Magistrate, was put up Bhaskar Balwant Bhopatkar, editor and publisher of a Marathi paper named "Bhala," to take his further trial, on the charge of sedition, under section 124A, of the Indian Penal Code.

Mr. E. F. Nicholson, Pub lic Prosecutor, appeared to prosecute, while Mr. De Souza, and Mr. Raghabaya, pleaders, defended the accused.

The English translation of the alleged seditious article entitled "A Durbar in Hell" that appeared in the 'Bhala" of 11th October last, which newspaper is printed and published in Poona, has already been published in our columns.

When the evidence of all the witnesses for the prosecution had been recorded, his Worship framed the following charge and postponed judgment till the afternoon :—

"That you, Bhaskar Balwant Bhopatkar, on or about the 12th day of October, 1905, at Bombay, then being the proprietor and publisher of a certain vernacular newspaper entitled "Bhala" by printed words appearing in the issue of that newspaper of the 11th October 1905, entitled, as translated, "A Durbar in Hell" on page 2, and circulated in Bombay, did attempt to bring into hatred or contempt or attempted to excite feelings of disaffection towards the Government established by law in the British Empire."

Being asked whether he would like to make his defence in the Police Court or in the High Court, the accused chose the latter course.

ACCUSED COMMITTED TO THE SESSIONS.

Yesterday afternoon, his Worship having framed the charge against the accused under section 124 A of the Indian Penal Code, ordered the accused to take his trial at the High Court Sessions.

Mr. De Souza, on behalf of the accused asked the Court if the accused would be liberated on the same bail.

Mr. Nicholson contended that the accused could not be liberated on the same bail, because the order of the High Court for the bail was in force as long as the Police Court trial lasted. After the committal of the accused, the question of bail became entirely a new thing. He said that this was his first experience of a case in which the accused though charged on a non-bailable offence was allowed on bail by the High Court. But if his Worship must let the accused on bail, the Public Prosecutor urged, the sum of the bail to be allowed should be double the original amount of bail, in view of the fact that a prima facie case had been made out the against accused and that he had been com-Court Sessions.

Mr. De Souza believed, it would not be the proper thing to enhance the amount of bail. He contended that the original amount of bail was fixed by in the higher court, and now a lower court was asked to enhance that amount. When an appeal for order of bail was made in the High Court, it was understood accused would either be convicted or discharged and keeping both these points in view, the amount of the bail mus have been ordered, and therefore there could be no need now increasing the amount of the bail.

After some further discussion, his Worship, in disposing of the appeal for bail, ordered the accused to be liberated on bail in the sum of Rs. 5,000 and two sureties in the sum of Rs. 2,500 each in clear Government papers.

CONCERT IN THE TOWN HALL.

A CONCERT under the distinguished patronage of H. E. the Governor was given at the Town Hall last night by Mr. Zal K. Kabraji and the Misses Kabraji assisted by several ladies and gentlemen in aid of a deservingly charitable object, the funds of the Adam's Wylie Hospital. It was a musical recital in Gujerati of the songs describing the celebrated epicof Rustom and Sohrab, composed by the late Mr. R. N. Kabraji. H. E. Lord Lamington was present; and there was a fairly large audience of ladies and gentlemen, who seemed to be much interested by the recitation by the late Mr. Kabraji's family. The recitation was first given by Mr. R. A. Kabraji in his life time in 1882 in the presence of the Hon. Mr. L. R. Ashburner member of H. E. the Governor's Council, and a select number of invited friends. In 1885, the recitation was repeated in the presence of Sir James Peile, another member of the Governor's Council, and later on in the presence of Sir William Wedderburn. There were some fifty-six songs included in the recitation, and these had been arranged by a competent "Oostad" or Professor of native music according to the rules of rhythm and cadence observed in native music. The plot of the story of Rustom and Sohrab may be summarised as follows :—In the Irano-Turanic war, during the reign of the Kaianian King of Kings, Kaus, Afrasiab, Kaus's Turkoman adversary, brings with him as champion, Sohrab, who is really the son of Rustom, the Iranian champion, generally known by the appellation of Jeban-Pehelvan, the victor of the world. Sohrab being young and vigorous, chief after chief from the Iranian host falls before him and eventually, Rustom, the hero of a hundred battles, is obliged to gird himself against him, and do battle. Those of the Turkoman chiefs, who knew of the secret of Rustom and Sohrab's being father and son, conspired with their King Afrasiab to keep back the knowledge of the secret from Sohrab, while Rustom was entirely in the dark as to Sohrab's descent. Father and son do battle in ignorance, and each admires the prowess and might of his iron-nerved opponent. Tired of exercising arms they agree to settle their destiny by wrestling. Twice is Rustom worsted; twice he escapes the dagger of his adversary by wiles and strategems. Luck turns, and at the third match, Rustom throws his son on the ground, and hastens to plunge his dagger in the bosom of his son. Then it was that by chance-expressions of Sohrab, destiny uplifts the veil of darkness, and father and son, knowing each other, lament the circumstances in which their kinsmanship is established. The audience was appreciative as evidenced by frequent applause; and the concert upon the whole was a very successful one.

MR. DORASAMI, THE MUSICIAN.

Among the many tributes which have been received by Mr. Dorasami, whose recent concerts have delighted the music lovers of Calcutta, is a letter from Herr Joachim. Writing from Berlin, Herr Joachim declares: "I thank you for your kind attention in sending me your improvisation. It is a difficult piece, and if you can play it well you must be a very clever violinist." It is needless to say that Mr. Dorasami can play that piece, not only well, but very well indeed. During his visit to the Straits, Mr. Dorasami paid a visit to the Governor, and much appreciation was shown of his skill, as the following letter from His Excellency's Private Secretary shows :— "Dear Mr. Dorasami," he writes, "I wish to avail myself of this opportunity, by desire of His Excellency the Governor of conveying to you His Excellency's thanks for your performance, both on violin and Piano, at the Residency last night, a performance which reflects as great credit upon yourself, as it afforded pleasure to his audience whose appreciation of your playing was universally expressed in the most cordial terms."

THE HEDJAZ MEMORIAL.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

VANIYAMBADI, JAN. 16.

A large public meeting of Mohamedans was held here yesterday and it was resolved to communicate to the Viceroy sympathy with the Bombay Mohamedans' memorial requesting the abolition of quarantine on Mecca pilgrims and begging his Excellency's favorable consideration of the same.

BOMBAY MUNICIPAL STANDING COMMITTEE.

THE usual weekly meeting of the Standing Committee of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held yesterday afternoon, Dr. K Dadachanji presiding. There were also present :—Sir Bhalchandra Krishna, Sir Sassoon J. David, Mr James Macdonald, Mr. Jaffer Rahimtoola, Mr Fazulbhoy Currimbhoy Ibrahim, the Hon'ble Mr. Vithaldas Damodhar Thackersey, Dr. N. N. Katrak, Mr. Joseph Baptista, Dr. A. G. Viegas, Mr. W. L. B. Souzer, the Hon'ble Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtoola, Mr. W. D. Sheppard, Municipal Commissioner, and Mr. M. N. Wadia, Municipal Secretary.

THE FORTHCOMING CENSUS.

A letter from the Commissioner was considered asking for a grant toward the cost of the census which is to be taken next month. The letter ran as follows :—"I have addressed the Improvement Trust and the Port Trust asking them if they will contribute towards the cost of the Census and if so, to what extent and am awaiting their replies. The decision of Government declining to share the cost of the operations has been communicated to the Committee appointed by the Corporation to report on the subject. In the meantime as funds are required to make the necessary arrangements, I request the sanction of the Standing Committee and the Corporation, to a grant of Rs. 20,000 from Surplus Cash Balance for the purpose. This sum is larger than that originally suggested by me, viz., Rs. 15,000 - but is not more than seems likely to be required. The amount of the Surplus Cash Balance is Rs. 16,79,888 - as shown in the statement accompanying the Agenda of the Corporation for the month of January 1906."

After some deliberation it was resolved to forward the letter to the Corporation with the recommendation of the Standing Committee that sanction be given to a grant of Rs. 20,000 from the Surplus cash balance, and to request the Chairman to bring this resolution forwarding as anurgent matter.

EXPENDITURE ON PLAGUE.

The Committee considered a letter from the Commissioner asking for a further grant of Rs. 50,000 towards plague expenditure.

The letter ran as follows :—"I have the honour to report for the information of the Standing Committee and the Corporation, that the provision of Rs. 2,00,000 made in the current year's Budget for Plague Expenditure is approaching exhaustion, the actual booked expenditure up to 13th January 1906 having been Rs. 1,98,248. It seems probable that a further provision of Rs. 50,000 will be required. Plague expenditure generally has followed very closely that of the past year, but the following items are peculiar to the year.

1.	Cost of Colaba and equipment of same	Rs. 24,000
2.	Experiments with Rous Serum,	„ 6,000
3.	Special measures for destruction of rats	„ 9,000
4.	Inoculation	„ 6,000
5.	Camps	„ 11,000
	Total Rs.	50,000

It will be seen that the Hospital at Colaba is responsible for a large proportion of this expenditure. The necessity of providing such a Hospital became imperative when the Port Trustees in spite of all representation insisted on our vacating the site for some years occupied by the Modikhana Hospital Rus Serum was purchased by my predecessor for the benefit of plague patients during the epidemic of last hot weather. A special report detailing the results has already been submitted for the information of the Corporation. Measures for the destruction of rats have for the first time taken a prominent place in the plague measures of the year and at the moment we are destroying not less than 20,000 rats a month, the bodies of all of which are examined in the Parel Laboratory. We have inoculated and are inoculating the whole of our Health Out-door Staff, primarily as an insurance against their annual mortality from plague, and secondly, as an example to the public generally of the advantages of inoculation. The expenditure on camps has been newly imposed upon us by Government and may be a subject of discussion between the Corporation and Government as to the question of the allocation of plague charges to be again raised. In the meantime we cannot do without there camps which are of the greatest benefit to the poorer classes of the population and in the interests of the City should be provided at a very early date. The cost of erection I estimate at Rs. 11,000. In the circumstances, I have the honour to request that a further sum of Rs. 50,000 may be placed at my disposal for plague expenditure during the current year, the amount being met by a transfer from savings in the grant for disposal to the City Improvement Trust. The necessary transfer statement is herewith forwarded.

The Committee, after a short discussion, postponed consideration of this subject till the next meeting.

After some other business of minor importance was gone through the Committee adjourned.

PROOF OF ZAM-BUK'S POWER.

HATHWA RAJ OFFICIAL'S TESTIMONY.

THE experience of Mr, Surji, N. Singh, circle officer of the Hathwa Raj, furnishes a striking demonstration of the remarkable healing and soothing qualities of Zam-Buk. Mr. Singh has tested Zam-Buk in many directions and so impressed is he with Zam-Buk's wonderful efficacy that he gives us permission to publish his experience for the benefit of other sufferers.

Writing from Hathwa, Bhoreh P. O Sarun, Mr. Sing says :—

I used Zam-Buk for pains and bruises, also as a dressing for more serious wounds and have found it very good. It quickly allays inflamation and heals up an injury. I have also put Zam-Buk to the test in other directions. One day I was suffering from severe headache and on applying the balm to my temples, I found great relief within half an hour. Owing to a cutaneous disease, the hair on my scalp fell out to such an extent as to make me almost bald. I began to loose hair some years ago and although I tried various hair stimulants, there was no good result. Naturally, after my loss of hair due to this cutaneous disease, I required something more than an ordinary hair restorer. Soon after using Zam-Buk I found that the smooth bald part of my head was feeling rather rough on account of the growth of the hair as a result of the healthy condition of the scalp. This led me to apply Zam-Buk further every day with the result that my scalp is now healthy and the hair has begun to grow in a most wonderful manner. This, I think, most wonderful experience and I shoud like you to accept this as further proof of the remarkable power Zam-Buk has, you have my full permission to publish these facts for the benefit of other sufferers.

Zam-Buk is a pure herbal balm and contains no animal fats or mineral irritants, Use it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, eczema, piles, itch, Delhi sores, prickly heat, sunburn, heat and other rashes sprains, ulcers pimples, scalp sores, abscesses, poisoned wounds, rheumatism, neuralgia and all other diseased, injured, and irritated conditions of the skin and tissues.

Prices: Re. 1 per pot, or Rs. 2/4 for large family size (containing nearly four times the Re. 1); of all chemists and medicine vendors, or for Re. 1/2 or Rs. 2/8 post free from the proprietors, The Zam-Buk Co., 30, Strand Road, Calcutta.

Cut out this coupon and send with one anna stamp to the Zam-Buk Co.'s Head Indian Depot, 30 Strand Road, Calcutta, to obtain a dainty free sample box.

BLUTHNER'S PIANOS ARE IDEAL PIANOFORTES.

THE BLUTHNER PIANOFORTES must not be classed with the productions by makers who are keen in the battle-royal of competition as to who could produce an inferior Piano at the smallest possible cost. Mr. JULIUS BLUTHNER has secured the World's Highest honours by dint of energy and determination to perfect his productions and to construct Musical Instruments in accordance with the most approved modern standards and requirements worthy of the name of Pianofortes and to sell them at a moderate price which, compared with public waste of money on worthless articles, is not an excessive sum. The Bluthner Pianofortes are the only Instruments which will help to radically change one's whole life in the matter of Music in a few days. The mysterious secret of their wonderful success and their wonderful influence on Musical people is their marvellous Brilliancy, Sweetness and sympathy in Tone. The actions of the Bluthner Pianofortes being soft, easy and uniform, have the effect of rousing the pupil and the musician from careless interest to the highest possible attainment which natural ability warrants. They are the only Pianos, specially built for India, possessing soulful music in every string. All musicians regard the time when they started using a Bluthner Pianoforte as the best days of their lives.

AMERICAN MORALITY.

Criticisms of England and English men and things have been so freely criticised o late that it is somewhat of a relief to find some other country come in for a share of it. America is the new subject and an Anglo-American the operator, in an article he heads "American Morality on its trial," in the January "Blackwood." He thinks the history of the United States under the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations will be more difficult to write than that of any preceding decade in the annals of the Great Republic. "Whoever undertakes it," he observes, "will have to be not only an expert politician, a shrewd sociologist and a man of business, but he will require, in addition, the gift of unravelling the mysteries of modern finance. They have thrown over it a glamour of romance, in which unparalleled prosperity is associated with the most colossal gambling on record." But that is mild criticism of American morality. Let us find something stronger:—"It has been a millionaire's decade, a reign of financial terror and lawlessness, during which corrupting influences have spread everywhere and among all classes. Tainted money forced its way into every vein and artery of the body politic. Municipal Government was reduced by it to organised bribery and blackmail. In State Government the bosses became more than ever arrogant and unscrupulous, for they had all the millionaires and the money and powers at their back. Even the Federal administration did not escape the prevailing infection. Two of its Chief Departments,—the Law Office and the Post Office—are still under the shadow of 'graft' scandals, and greater scandals, in connection with the Panama Canal are looming on the horizon." We scarcely expected the critic would content himself with the Insurance disclosures, but he will not have it that there is anything in suspicions of exaggeration and sensationalism which may have been excited by this lurid and unflattering picture.

In support of his terrible charges the Anglo-American critic chooses not to give his own evidence, but that of Americans themselves, to convict them out of their own mouth. He admits that only a fraction of the people get a chance to plunder one another. The vast majority have to be honest for lack of opportunity. They are saved from sin by absence of temptation, and in their way the mass of the American people are as honest as those of any other country. They have quite as high a moral standard as our own, and are equally successful in living up to it. There is, he continues, no simpler, purer, or more rational life under the sun than that of the middle-class American in his normal condition. Outside the maelstrom of machine politics or Wall Street speculation—the twins curses of the country—he can be high principled and honourable both in business and in private life. Seventy per cent are said to be included in the class; eating the bread of honest industry and knowing nothing of "graft" and "tainted money", except what they read in the newspapers. If they are inclined to be lax, the American woman is there to brace them up. Of the nation, as a whole, we are assured that so long as the American woman holds her present position there need be little fear as to the ultimate future of American morals. The good American woman is declared to be the most active and aggressive of her sex. She exercises the strictest discipline over her own family. She has the most decided convictions on social questions. In nine cases out of ten she is an anti-drinker, anti-smoker and anti-gambler. However much she may wish her children to succeed in life, she would not have them be "boodlers" at any price. In political and municipal slang it may be explained, "graft" means any secret commission or illicit gain, while "boodle" is generally suggestive of bribes, and it is claimed by their Anglo-American critic that the recent outbreak of political and financial corruption is to be treated as abnormal. We are glad to hear it, though we fear there are many who believe it to be utterly inseparable from American ethics.

Yet the critic maintains that the experiencesof the past ten years have beenabnormal, both as regards financial as well as political swindles, and finds consolation in the thought that other countries suffer from the same visitation as the United States. The disease has been violent in that country because of the immense quantity of combustible material it has had to work upon. And as evidence of the desire of the Government to suppress it, the appointment of Commissions of Inquiry to unearth the astounding irregularities in the Insurance world are quoted—"irregularities" by the way which, compared with the sensations they have furnished, all the other boodling scandals sink into significance. But we are asked to believe that the most sane-minded and level-headed of Americans look beyond mere details and see behind them this vital issue—the influence of excessive wealth on the moral as well as on the material well-being of the community. In the pulpit and on the platform some remarkable warnings have been uttered against it. In their condemnation of it the clergy are being supported by cabinet ministers, senators, bankers and commercial men of all classes. The President himself, as we well know, stands up, on all occasions for the "square deal" which is his expressive synonym for honesty and fair-play. Much of the moral awakening among the people is said to be due to his initiative. And very likely it is, that is, of course if there really has been an awakening. The critics cites the opinions of clergymen in support of his contention that it has. But unfortunately clerical opinion as to what is doing in the work-a-day world is not a safe criterion. Business-men—that is the few with consciences,—complain of the moral laxity of the age. "Blackwood's" critic, severe on Trusts and all the methods they adopt, wishes us to believe that Savanarola's task has been begun in many State Legislatures and Municipal Councils in the Union, that men, who have undertaken it, are thoroughly in earnest and that the people who selected them for it are equally in earnest and will hold them to their pledges. Pure and honest Government is felt to be the chief need of the nation. No doubt it is, but we fear it will be a long time now before the United States gets it. We hope, however, that the people have realised how great is their need in this respect.

A PROBLEM FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Headmasters in conference in England recently had before them the vexed question of inspection in Secondary schools. Though many were in favour of its adoption, there were plenty who offered the most strenuous opposition. This latter proceeds from two causes. The chief is seen in the case of such a school as Rugby which objects to inspection in any form. Its reasons are easily found in the old fashioned hatred of outside interference and in a pride which disdains correction and refuses to give an account of its stewardship to imported meddlers. The other class of school which raises objection is the struggling grammar school in a small town and here the objection is not to methods of criticism but to the fact that there is certain to be a demand for the spendin of impossible sums, out of all measure to the means of the locality, on equipment. One headmaster, whose laboratory students had had a brilliant record of success, found his grant threatened until he provided his building with a stone floor. And yet this is a reasonable request compared with some that are made. Costly and elaborate apparatus and fittings are practically always made a condition of being recognised, so the small school throws up its hands in despair and retires. Inspection is, of course, voluntary. So it is, but when once inspection is regarded as enhancing the status of a school, only those of the highest eminence will dare to stand out, and the poor grammar schools will either have to raise the funds somehow or be obliterated. The Headmasters talked long and solemnly over this failing of the inspector. Inspection deals with the machinery and examination with the products of education, and no reliable estimate of the system can be found without taking both into considesation. An inspection should be a sort of friendly conference, like an angel's visits, and its force should be broken in the case of nervous assistants or pupils by the sympathetic intervention of the head. It should disorganise the work as little as possible; it should not divert the energies of the assistant masters from their proper work of teaching to the construction of elaborate tables and the compilation of complicated statistics; it should weigh the personality of the teacher against the arbitrary standards of building and equipment, mindful of the old Greek proverb that it is men and not walls that make a city; it should, in short, bear in mind the aims and circumstances of a school, its intellectual methods and results, above and beyond the problems of mensuration and the laying down of stone pavement. But there is a point which immeasurably outweighs all these limitations. It is the question of what type of man should be selected to do the work. Only those who have been through the drudgery themselves, who have battled with unruly and stupid boys and studied the problems of school life in all their varied aspects, can ever hope to succeed. The most impossible person is the faddist but close to him comes the newly fledged graduate and it is to be hoped that when the Board of Education completes its roll for secondary schools it will see to it that, at the commencement, at any rate, only seasoned teachers and organisers are allowed to exercise so important an authority as that of the Inspector.

THE CHANNEL TUNNEL.

There can be few companies with less to do than the Channel Tunnel Company Limited. Regularly it meets and reports not on success done, but on public feeling and impressions—and everyone is satisfied. Why such great zeal should be shown in the construction of this means of transit, it is not always easy to see, but Baron d'Eslanger is never failing in giving his support to the scheme which is the Company's raison d'etre. By some it is felt that the time is not far distant when, with some hope of success, an appeal can be made to Parliament for the necessary powers. But much will have to be done before a Bill can be brought before the House. It will be necessary to be prepared with a complete scheme showing the feasibility of constructing the tunnel together with an estimate of the probable cost from an engineering point of view and some estimates of the traffic required to pay a reasonable interest on the outlay. This, although a work of some difficulty, should not, think the directors, prove insurmountable inasmuch as the service of tunnel construction has been completely revolutionised since the scheme was just promulgated and the experience thus gained can be made available. To many people it seems impossible that the tunnel should ever be constructed, but greater engineering feats have been accomplished and the only real obstacle in the way as far as can be seen is that Parliament will pertinently ask, "Cui bono?" Estimable as the idea may seem to those who are afraid of the sea, there seems very little need for the tunnel in any way.

H. M. S. Fox, which was expected in Colombo on Saturday last from Bombay, has now gone to Rangoon to join the Renown, Terrible, Hyacinth and Perseus.

THE Railway Board on return from tour in Burma next month will visit Assam and re-assemble at Calcutta about the 21st February.

THE Tashi Lama is being accompanied on his return journey to Tibet by Lieutenant Bailey, 32nd Sikh Pioneers, who will act as British Trade Agent at Gyantse during Captain O'Connor's absence on six months' leave.

H. H. THE RAJAH of Cochin, who arrived in Madras on Saturday, paid a visit to H.E. the Governor. His Excellency returned the visit later in the day. The usual ceremonials prescribed for such State functions were gone through at both visits.

THE Maharaja Shambhu Sing of Banswara, Rajputana, was invested on Thursday with the powers of a ruling Chief at the hands of the Governor-General's Agent, the Hon'ble Mr. E. Colvin. The ceremony was made the occasion for general public rejoicings.

AN illustration of how very effectively the boycott has collapsed in Bengal is afforded by the figures relating to the import trade of Calcutta. During December last the imports of cotton goods into Calcutta were valued at 187 lakhs—an increase of 29 lakhs as compared with the imports of the corresponding months of the previous year.

THE Madras Government have circulated to officer of the P. W. Department an interesting note on ferro concrete laid at the Palar bridge, with data of actual cost of materials and labour, by Major Ellis, R. E Armoured concrete is a comparatively new structural materials, and it has several qualities which mark it out for increased use in the future.

THE statement of traffic of the Ahmedabad-Prantej Railway, for the week ending 25th November, amounted to Rs. 4,219 being an increase on the corresponding week of last year of Rs. 479. Total earnings from 1st July to 25th November were Rs. 62,229, being an increase on the corresponding period of last year of Rs. 6,530.

THE statement of traffic of the Tapti-Valley Railway, for the week ending 25th November, amounted to Rs. 21,692 being an increase on the corresponding week of last year of Rs. 7,515. Total earnings from 1st July to 25th November were Rs. 2,71,458, being an increase on the corresponding period of last year of Rs. 98,787.

DURING December there were 39 deaths from plague in Bombay out of 50 cases and a total mortality of 2,770. In November there were 50 deaths out of 67 cases and in October 80 deaths out of 94 cases. In Kolhapur and the Southern Maratha country there were 928 deaths from plague out of 1192 cases during December whilst in the Satara District there were 569 deaths out of 834 cases.

THE Superintendent, Archæological Survey, Madras, recently requested that orders might be issued for furnishing a descriptive Report of the conservation work done annually to ancient monuments by Public Works officers. What Mr. Rea asks for is that the annual Reports on the condition of ancient monuments should be submitted to him punctually, and should contain more than a mere statement of the amount spent. Accordingly in future they will give full particulars of what has been done during the year.

How difficult are the attempts at afforestation on the Frontier may be seen from a somewhat plaintive statement lately penned by the Deputy Commissioner of Hazara, who writes:—"The sayads and qujjars of Kagan have hitherto regarded a tree as a useless and mischievous encumbrance to grazing which should be removed with the least possible delay compatible with a minimum of exertion. As a result the village forests throughout Kagan are in a parlous condition, and will need constant supervision if they are to be rehabilitated.

IN the Address presented by the Indian Association to the Viceroy the catalogue of alleged oppressive measures in Eastern Bengal was drawn up almost in the form of an indictment; and an ignorant public might imagine that the British authorities and tyrannically checked the spontaneous display of patriotic feeling. But there are too many people acquainted with the methods of the wirepullers in Calcutta for this view to obtain even passing belief. In Bengal itself similar tactics were followed, but less successfully though at Andul and Balasore there was much trouble raised. As regards Balasore the exposure came from a Calcutta newspaper which has all along been strongly sympathetic towards the anti-partition agitation. In its issue of the 3rd December, the Statesman published "letter from its special correspondent at Balasore in which the truth was spoken in a very blunt way. There can be no doubt at all, he wrote, that much of the disturbed state of feeling has been caused first, by the wild rumours current in the district; and secondly, by the exaggeration in the newspapers, and the mischievous messages sent down day by day from Calcutta. We want no better evidence than this and when facts are put forward for the Viceroy's consideration it would be well to remind those who parade them that there are circumstances known to Government which throw quite a different light upon the various disturbances of the past two months.

THE county presentation to his Majesty's ship Suffolk, provided by 3,453 subscribers in 135 parishes, has been sent to the Mediterranean on board his Majesty's ship Leviathan, and on its arrival there will be handed over by the Comander-in-Chief, Lord Charles Beresford, to the Suffolk, which is serving with his squadron. The presentation comprises a piece of plate in the form of a copy of a cistern in the possession of the Czar Nicholas, a ship's bell, surmounted by a naval crown, and a silver shield. On the latter is an inscription recording the past war services of ships bearing the name of Suffolk.

UNDER the title of "Edward VII., Diplomatist and Politician," the "Gil Blas" publishes a very warm appreciation of the King, whom the writer, M. D. Honfroi, characterises as "le type accompli du monarque moderne." "Without bluff and solely by means of his admirable courtesy and his personal charm this diplomatist, adapting old traditions to new requirements, has known how to win over to his country those formerly inspired by deeply-rooted antagonism and to assure the grandeur and development of his country in all directions without offending anybody whomsoever." The complete change of feeling towards England which has occurred during the past few years is attributed entirely to the personality of the King combined with his clear perception of the absolute necessity of peace. Above all, the entente cordiale is his work, and to him must be attributed the complete and spontaneous change in the feeling of the English people for France. "So far as Germany is concerned, the King has himself given the example of moderation which is all the more meritorious on his part as his character and that of the German Emperor form the most absolute contrast. William II. is the type of 'bluffer' a outrance who only aims at effect, not hesitating, as we have seen, to resort to a theatrical mise-en scene or even to the most brutal means for securing it. The antagonism between the two people is of long standing. Germany lacks initiative, but she is a perfect imitator, addicted to political as well as commercial poaching."

MUSIC IN 1905.

To superficial observes one musical year is very like another. Opera, festivals concerts, each in due season, run their course: new music comes and most of it goes to the place appointed for things superfluous heralded by the puff preliminary, fresh performers appear, radiant with the hope that too often deceives, and so the year, like its predecessors, rolls round. But, in reality, there has been a change—gradual perhaps and hardly perceptible, but on that account all the more significant to thoughtful observers. It may not be amiss to point out some indications of movement in the year which will very soon be dying, and, first of all, to mark with special emphasis the amazing spread of interest in music, and the growing fervour with which the art is, in some form or other, cultivated by the masses of the people. As to the nature and value of these labours I am not now speaking. There may be much and varied need of improvement, but it is encouraging to see on everyhand an extending and deepening desire to make the best use, according to the light we have of such means as we possess. It may be that many lose heart because of weary waiting for the finer products of cultivation, and are especially depressed when some exalted prophet calls down to us from the height of his position, and, in the tone of Jeremiah, assures us that the day of small things has not yet passed. As to this, never mind. Nature does not produce the marvellous blooms of the florist's art, but he is careful, none the less, to adorn our fields and hedgerows with the charms which poets delight to sing. Let us look, first of all, to the fields and hedgerows of music. At present these are doing well—how well anybody may see who follows with attention the progress of the competition festivals borrowed of late years from the Welsh Eisteddfod, and this year more to the fore than ever. There is uncontested evidence to the fact that these meetings, most of which are held in rural districts, have revealed a previously unsuspected degree of capacity for the accomplishment of elementary musical work. Every part of such evidence is precious, for if we are to be, or do, anything notable in music, the entire area of the land must be ploughed, and harrowed, and sown. Then, if we faint not we may reap. But it is most devoutly to be hoped that the "competition, festival" will not, like the Eisteddfod, be allowed to foster the mercenary spirit unhappily so prevalent in these times. Let the people be taught that they should contend for the honour of winning and not for cash. Some years ago I gave that counsel to a gathering of Welshmen, suggesting that the symbol of victory should be a wreath of laurel, or, mayhap, of parsley. They laughed, and I doubt not are still striving for cheques.

That the competitive meetings are of good omen for our choirs is beyond question, but to take part in the chorus of the future even the best of the aspirants must set their projects high. In all my experience I have never observed so great an advance in choral work as was shown at the recent festivals. This, indeed, should be a red-letter year in the respect named, for though the progress was not equal in all cases, in each it was of a striking character, while generally it had a special and very interesting feature. Heretofore, choir-masters have been careful to secure the proper musical effect, beyond which, owing, perhaps, to limited opportunities of rehearsal, they have only fitfully ventured to go. Purely musical efficiency is, of course, an absolute necessity and a first consideration, but dramatic expression is also of high importance. It has, however, seldom been studied in any adequate measure apart from and beyond the conventional degrees of force. In the days when Haydn's "Creation" was performed we often heard the lines beginning "The first created world" sung with the same expression—which was no expression at all—as the sequel, "Despairing, cursing, rage." Like the poet who, if his verses rhymed and rattled, thought all was well, the singers were content if they sang the right note at the proper moment, verbal sense and feeling being left to take care of themselves. Our choirs are now heading for a point beyond this, and the performance of Berlioz's "Faust" at Sheffield showed how far one choral body has gone towards it. The days of the stodgy, humdrum chorus are virtually over, and chorus-masters must at once proceed to teach the significance and method of dramatic characterisation, how effects are obtained by modification of tone, and by what means, if singers cannot be animated by the actual spirit of the words set down for them they can sing as though they were. To such high service are our choirs now called by Dr. Coward and other progressive chiefs. Let them look to it.

The wave of 1905 has carried love and practice of orchestral music beyond the mark reached in the previous year; progress being especially noticeable among amateur performers, in whose case the labour involved is a form of recreation. In the matter of professional orchestras there is yet much to be done. They are not sufficiently numerous, to begin with, every large city in the kingdom should have its permanent orchestra, under a conductor whose duty is undivided. This may be considered a counsel of perfection, but to it we must come or eternally lag behind wiser and more high spirited nations. Again it may be asked where we are to get conductors, and that is indeed, a grave question if it be true that at present we have only one baton of high distinction. Provide the orchestras and the batons may be taken for granted; strike the hour and the man of the hour will appear. But he must be given a fair chance when he does come. There is no royal road to orchestral eminence. It is a way that must be plodded with infinite patience and invincible resolution, with, if need be, "strong crying and tears." Thus are all great deeds achieved, and it may happen that out of the state of things just indicated will be evolved a conductor equal to our one and only. Mayhap that will break the spell of barrenness; making the efficient conductor a common object of the concert-room. Seriously, if we cannot by ever so much taking thought indefinitely multiply Mr. Henry J. Wood, it is possible to meet the needs of the moment, even without calling for the help of the conductors whom Germany seems so ready to spare. On the important question of the works which our orchestras play much might be said. Indeed, I doubt if any musical theme of higher present interest could be found for discussion, owing to the unquestionable instability of public taste at this particular juncture. For some years past we have been drifting towards the extreme of modern art—towards the complications and all the other exaggerations by which too many of our contemporary writers seek to make up for the absence of more solid and more engaging qualities in themselves. The wish may be father to the thought, but I cannot resist an impression that there is now a tendency towards reaction. If my feeling be correct, the fact is not surprising. So much of modern music is artificial and confusing, so unbeautiful also that it cannot wear well. The fashion of it passes away, as being merely fashion and interest in it can only be sustained by piling extravagance upon extravagance. But however this may be, we now find the Queen's Hall Orchestra playing more classical and quasi-classical music than was once the case; elsewhere, too, especially in the provinces, concert-goers are showing a growing preference for the pleasing and easily intelligible works born before yesterday. This is quite to the good. Somehow we have all got out of our depth, and it is well if signs appear that the fact has become evident, even to that deplorable thing, the meanest capacity.

Church music has occupied an interesting position during the year now almost closed. Its advanced character seems to have excited alarm in certain quarters, whence has issued the bugle call, "Retreat." But the difficulty, rightly considered, is hardly a serious one, since it can be got over by compromise, the process so dear to our level-headed English race. Beyond question, the congregation has a part in the duty of praise, and nobody is entitled to say them nay. The result is almost certainly painful to those who put music before worship, but this is eminently a case in which the will must be taken for the deed. It is much more important that devout people should "sing praises" than that the laws of harmony and of the vocal art should be observed. So much I am sure, no reasonable man will dispute. Yet is there room for the "anthem clear," for the exalted and inspiring musical effect which Puritan Milton lauded in immortal lines? Many years ago this often-disputed question was settled in Crown-court Drury-lane, by the common-sense of Dr. Cumming (Apocalypse Cumming) and his people.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

LABOUR PARTY TRIUMPHANT.

LONDON, JAN. 17, 12-45 P. M.

Latest returns show 199 Ministerialists including, according to the best estimates, 24 Labourites and 40 Nationalists.

Messrs. Samuel (Liberal) Yorkshire (Cleveland), Macneille (Nationalist) South Donegal and O'Keilly (Nationalist) North Mayo, all have been elected unopposed.

THE PRESS ON THE ELECTION.

The Conservative papers expect that yesterday's slight Unionist rally may continue on the ground that the waverers are scared at the Liberal triumph.

The strength of the Labourites is still the chief topic. The Conservatives warning the Liberals of the dangers of predatory socialism, while the Liberals are confident, they have secured valuable allies.

THE TEA DUTY COMPANY.

PROTECTIONIST VICTORY.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 17.

Writing of the prospects of the Anti Tea-Tax League in connection with Elections the "Englishman" says :—"A large proportion of the members already returned to the new Parliament, both Radicals and Labourities as well as Conservatives, are pledged to the Anti-Tea-Duty League, to vote for the reduction or abolition of tea duties. One of the Liberal vice-presidents of the League, Sir Harry Johnston, has been defeated by his Unionist rival, Sir S. Scott in West Marylebone, but this means no loss to the cause of British-grown tea for, while Sir H. Johnston votes for a reduction of the tax on all tea, China as well as Indian, the successful Unionist will vote for the entire abolition of the tax on Indian and Ceylon tea and the retention of duty on China, Japanese and Java tea.

MEMS ABOUT MEMBERS.

Mr. Devlin's return for North Galway retains for the Nationalists a seat they secured at a by-election in 1903. He is a Canadian and was formerly representative of Ottawa in the Canadian Parliament.

Sir W. Holland (Rotherham Division of Yorkshire) is a typical Manchester man, though now representing a Yorkshire division. He is a cotton spinner and a former Chairman of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. What interests us most is that he was a member of the Indian Currency Commission in 1898.

Mr. D. J. Cogan (East Wicklow) is a Dublin provision dealer. He was selected by the United Irish League Convention and was returned without opposition at last General Election.

Mr. J. B. Lonsdale, (Mid-Armagh), is a Conservative, who has held the seat since 1902, and has only once had to face opposition. He is a Manchester merchant and Chairman of the Corn Exchange in that city.

Mr. J. P. Hayden, (Roscommon South), retakes a seat which has not been contested at the four last elections. It was held by his brother until 1900. Mr. Hayden is a journalist and a newspaper proprietor.

Mr. Michael Flavin has held the North Kerry seat since 1896. He is known as "Single Ejaculation Flavin." He is not distinguished but rather noisy and much given to questioning.

Sir T. Grattan Esmonde, (Mid-Armagh), is the only baronet in the Nationalist party, but that is not his fault. He is descended on his mother's side from Grattan the Great. He is altogether an amiable patriot, a landlord, and "well fitted to conciliate the weak-minded enemy in England and the colonies where he has been on tour for the benefit of his party."

Mr. Lundon, who goes back for the East division of County Limerick, has been in the Irish National movement for thirty-five years and is as well known to the leaders as to the people of his country. He is a teacher at Kilteely, "one of the real old Irish teachers,—most of them passed away,—who dabbled so gaily in the humanities."

Mr. W. H. K. Redmond, (East Clare) is brother of the leader of the Nationalist party, whom he strongly resembles in appearance. On Irish platforms he is nothing short of tremendous. He stands high in the list of those who have been ejected from the House by impetuous Speakers.

Mr. John Culinane, (Tipperary South), again unopposed, was a prominent Nationalist during the Land League and Plan of Campaign days and was several times imprisoned.

Mr. Maclean and Mr. Gooch capture two seats for the Liberal party at Bath. The former tried to do so once before but was unsuccessful. The two new men now displace Colonel Wyndham-Murray and the Rt. Hon. E. R. Wodehouse, a former Governor of the Cape.

Dr. Saipman, a barrister, goes back to Northampton for second time and Mr. Paul takes the place of Mr. Labouchere who has retired from an active political career owing to advancing years. The Socialists sought to bring forward a Candidate, but we hear nothing of his having gone to the poll.

Sir J. T. Woodhouse has represented Huddersfield since 1895. He is a Hull Solicitor who was knighted for party services.

Mr. Barker, for Penryn and Falmouth, succeeds Mr. F. J. Horiman, the founder and donor of the Horiman Free Museum, but does not change the politics of the constituency. Mr. Horniman did not seek re-election being 70 years of age.

Mr. C. F. G. Masterman, (West Ham, North), takes the seat vacated by M. E. Gray. To contest the constituency was wasted energy on the part of the Unionists.

Colonel Ivor Phillips, (Southampton), takes a seat for the Liberals, which his predecessors had failed to capture time and time again.

LORD CURZON AND TARIFF REFORM.

Hearty Support.

LONDON, JAN. 16, 8-15 p. m.

Lord Curzon has telegraphed his heartiest wishes for the success of the Unionist Tariff Reformer, Mr. Marshall Hall, at Southport.

MR. HALDANE ON THE LABOUR PARTY.

Mr. Haldane speaking at Ormiston welcomed the Labourites who, he said, had been insufficiently represented.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN AT NUNEATON.

Mr. Chamberlain addressing a meeting at Nuneaton sympathised with Mr. Balfour who, he said, was still the Unionist leader. He admitted the magnitude of the defeat but was not discouraged and would continue his fiscal fight even for five elections.

The "Daily Graphic" states Mr. Marshall Hall candidate at Southport, is not a Tariff reformer.

THE DEFEAT OF MR. LONG.

Mr. Long (Unionist) who was defeated at Bristol has agreed to stand for South County Dublin.

THE FRENCH PRESIDENCY.

First Day's Sitting.

The first sitting of the Morocco Conference took place to-day, at Algeciras and was devoted entirely to formalities.

GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.

Unanimity at the Morocco Conference.

The "Standard" states that as the result of a diplomatic interchange of views Great Britain and Russia have agreed to act in concert at the Morocco Conference.

THE UNREST IN RUSSIA.

Further Arrests.

The Council of Workmen's Delegates composed of twenty-two revolutionaries have been arrested at St. Petersburg.

It is expected that this will nip in the bud any expansion of such organisations.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Proposed Working by Chinese Labour.

The Chief Engineer of the Panama Canal officially reports that Chinese labour alone is of use effectually there.

GERMANY AND EAST AFRICA.

Commission of Enquiry Appointed.

The German Government has appointed a Commission to enquire into the revolt in East Africa.

JAPANESE COMPLAINT. OF ILL-TREATMENT.

Baron Suyematsu writing to the newspapers from Portsaid complains most bitterly of the treatment of himself and other Japanese on board the German Liner Gilton. They were, he says, condemned throughout the voyage to occupy the lowest and worst places at table.

LATER.

The newspapers discuss Baron Suyematsu's letter most sympathetically.

The management of the "North Deutsche Lloyds" has cabled to Colombo asking for an explanation.

Strict instructions had been given to the Captain of the Kieten to show the utmost courtesy to Baron Suyematsu going out.

JAPAN AND CHILI.

The Japanese Minister at Santiago is devoting his attention to the exchange of Japanese manufactures for Chilian saltpetre.

THE ROYAL TOUR.

AT MANDALAY.

A MUSICAL BOAT RACE.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

MANDALAY, JAN. 17.

This morning their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princes visited the silk bazaar, the Arakan pagoda and the palace formerly occupied by King Theebaw. The sight at the pagoda is the golden image of Buddha illuminated by electric lights and placed on a richly bejewelled pedestal in a shrine decorated with gold.

This afternoon Burmese boat races were held on the moat. The Prince and Princess went round the moat in a Royal barge constructed as a pandal with a dragon prow drawn by two boat loads of rowers with whom were native musicians and Burmese songsters and dancers. The banks of the moat were thronged with a brilliant multitude and the scene closed in by the Shan Hills was very fine. The boat races were extremely interesting, each boat having a crew of about thirty who timed their rowing to cymbals struck by men in the middle of the boats. Among the crews were two teams of Lushas from Fort Steadman, picturesquely garbed, who row standing up, using one arm and one leg the latter being turned round the paddle for the thrusting stroke. The Princess presented the prizes to the first and second boats.

To-night after dinner their Royal Highnesses attended the Pwe at the palace, afterwards boarding the river steamer "Japan" which begins the journey down the Irrawady at 5-30 to-morrow morning.

A ROYAL MEMENTO TO CALCUTTA.

CALCUTTA JAN, 17.

The Prince and Princess of Wales have presented their portraits to the Calcutta Municipality as a memento of their visit to Calcutta.

LORD MINTO'S PROPOSED TOUR TO BEHAR.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 17.

His Excellency Lord Minto proposes to leave Calcutta with His Honor the Lieut. Governor of Bengal about the 5th proximo, for about a fortnight, on a visit to Bankipur and other places in Behar.

MINING ENGINEERS IN CONFERENCE.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 17.

The inaugural meeting of Mining and Geological Institute of India was held at Asansol, yesterday, in the presence of a large gathering. Mr. Pickering read an account of the origin and objects of the Institute which is the promotion of the study of all branches of mining. Mr. Holland was elected President with Mr. W. Miller (Equitable Coal Company) and Mr. T. Richards (Kolar Gold Fields) members of the Committee.

LATER.

The full list of office bearers elected for the new Mining and Geological Institute is as follows :—Mr Holland, President, Messrs. Miller and Richards Vice Presidents ; Messrs R. P. Ashton and W. N Pickering, Honorary Secretaries and Treasurers There is also a council of twenty members.

Speaking at Asansol yesterday Mr. Holland dwelt upon the advancements made in recent years in scientific mining and emphasized the need of co-operation in publishing the results of practical and scientific investigations. The list of members already includes 124 names from all parts of India.

The Hon. Mr. Hewett was too ill to attend the meeting and his speech expressing the sympathy of Government with the Institution was read by Mr. Pickering, Mr. McLeod, Chairman of the Indian Mining Association, replied. Sir Andrew Fraser also spoke.

CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL CORPORATION.

DR. COOK'S POSITION.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 17.

A special meeting of the Calcutta Corporation was held, here to-day, on the motion of a number of Commissioners who are desirous of reversing the decision, recently arrived at, to dismiss Dr. Cook, the Municipal Health Officer, but was adjourned after prolonged discussion.

Mr. Tremearne in moving that the original motion of dismissal should be rescinded, said :—"There was an impression abroad that dismissal of Dr. Cook was the outcome of a cut and dried scheme prepared in the Secretary's office with a view to putting in another person in his place and that it had been said that there was a regular Tammany ring in the Municipality which was not to the interest of the city or its ratepayers.

OFFICIAL CHANGES.

IMPORTANT FORESHADOWINGS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 17.

It is statedthat when the Hon. Mr. Hewett returns from leave he will most probably succeed Sir James Latouche in the United Provinces, Mr. Risley possibly going to the Central Provinces if he does not succeed Sir Arundel Arundel in the Home Membership of the Council, a post to which the Bombay Civil Service has claims.

THE RAILWAY CONFERENCE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN. 17.

The Railway Conference have elected Mr. H. Wenden as President in succession to Mr. Douglas and Mr. Ross Johnson, as Secretary, the latter post carrying pay of Rs. 2,000 rising to Rs. 2,500 per month,

THE SESAMUM CROP.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JAN 17.

The official report upon the Sesamum crop of the current season in India estimates the total yield (excluding that in Bengal and Hyderabad) from both mixed and unmixed crop at 296,000 tons against 231,000 last year.

THE BANDMANN OPERA COMPANY.

"ALADDIN."

So popular did the pantomime prove on Saturday that by almost unanimous desire Mr. Bandmann let it take the place of the catch of the season last night; a second visit only served to confirm the good impression gained before. From first to last the piece went well and proved that the Company is both thoroughly capable and amusing. Miss Georgie Corlass and Mr. Harry Cole were the life and soul of the enemy and fully deserved the applause which greeted their performance whenever they came on the stage.

THE MOTOR TRIALS.

FROM MAHBLESHWAR TO POONA.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL DAY'S RUN.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, JAN. 17.

Long before daybreak this morning, the vicinity of the Race View Hotel, Mableshwar, was alive with human voices and the music of jolting tongas, notwithstanding that many of the automobilists kept it up with snatches of song in the hotel dining room till a late hour the previous night. But motorists are as keen on their sport as turfites or yachtsmen and hence there were no absentees when the long procession of cars lined up for the start outside the Blue Valley Hall at 8 o'clock. The start was a tedious affair owing to the great peril of the descent of Satara Ghat. It was decided last night to make a wait of four instead of three minutes between the starting of the cars. It must be admitted that Mr. Davar and his colleagues have gone at the trials in no desperate spirit and if accidents had occurred, the Committee would have had no stricken conscience in consequence. As it is, the Committee have no small cause for self-congratulation, for up to now, I believe there has not been a human bone scraped in the whole of the three days trials.

There is little need here to dwell upon the great charms of to-day's route. It passed through a landscape of never-ending variation and the artistic eye yearned at a score of points to stay and dwell upon the panorama of red crags towering above and the blue hills folding in the distant large miles of yellow green maize fields, the red brown roads of Mahableshwar, the emerald foliage on hill and dale and varied tints of the thousands of cultivated plots in the far famed Blue Valley make up a picture which will never fade from the memory. Not the least interesting feature of the journey are the gaily clad women of Satara, most of them very pretty in their youth with round faces and laughing eyes. They appeared at all points of the route, and truly amazing was it when a break down occurred to a car, in a few minutes it was surrounded by wondering natives not one of whom had been visible in the landscape a few minutes before. The route which lay via the Satara Ghat and the Satara-Poona Cross roads was not quite so excellently kept as on the previous days and several cars had very narrow escapes from collision with cows which had strayed on to the roadway and which the villagers were too frightened to attempt to hunt from their perilous position. There was considerable annoyance caused to several cars at the very sharp angle near the Satara control in consequence of the defective flagging at this point. No less than eight cars continued along the straight road for some distance before discovering their mistake and one plucky motorist on finding that he was off the route, preferred a short cut across the fields to coming back along the wrong road to get on to the course.

Not the least interesting of the cars were the three tiny Wolseleys which aquitted themselves very well Unfortunately, however, Mr. Hate's "Little Wonder" as motorists humorously term the two seated Wolseleys came to grief, it having broken its gear so seriously that it had to be packed off to Bombay by train. Happily nothing more serious than this has happened to mar the entire success of the day's trials

As usual Mr. Davar and his Committee were engaged in settling disputes for some hours during the evening, while the observers watched their cars being washed or themselves indulged in much needed ablutions. Very few cars have suffered any damage and everybody seems jubilant at the great good fortune which has so far attended the trials. No less than 30 cars, left Mahableshwar this morning to travel over 100 miles of as tortuous a course as could well be found. Yet all the cars, save Mr. Hates, arrived before sunset this evening. Up to the present the general impression is that out of the four classes, there will be a tie between classes D and C represented by Mr. Sorel's 40-50 H. P. De Dietrich and Mr. Mulraj's Fiat ably driven by Harper. The Fiat car, it may be mentioned is only 16-24 H. P., and in every detail has done remarkably good work. It could scarcely have done better in class C. Perhaps the best work done in general details, though not in hill climbing was by Mr. Deane's 16-20 H. P. Argyll. In hill climbing the palm for perfection is generally given to Mr. Fazulbhoy Currimbhoy's Orleans ably driven by Fennell. Practically all the other cars in Class C. besides those already mentioned had gone well in Class D. Mr. Lee's Panhard did splendid work as also did the Maharajah Tikari's De Dietrich. In Class B. the Clement Bayards have rendered excellent records.

The cars will leave here to-morrow at eight at intervals of two minutes and all cars will endeavour to reach Vincent Road control without stopping. The results of to-day's run are as follows :—

CONCERT AT THE GYMNASIUM.

IN AID OF THE AFGHAN MEMORIAL CHURCH.

LAST evening a Concert was held at the Gymnasium, at Upper Colaba, Bombay, in aid of the Afghan Memorial Church Organ Fund, under the distinguished patronage of H. E. Lord Lamington. The Gymnasium hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting. A platform was also provided for, with a painted landscape scene on the back-ground and with side-wings. The attendance at the Concert was very large. An interesting programme was drawn up for the evening and it was gone through very successfully, first of the items therein being encored. The programme opened with an Overture by the Band of the 2nd A.P.W.O. Yorkshire Regiment which was in attendance. Mr. D. Binning's song "In the smoke" was funny and charming. Mr. Abney's song "Promise of Life" was followed by Miss Minnikin's "A Japanese Love Song," which was encored. Mr. G.F. Hill was at his best in the "Song of the Bow." The Band gave the caprice, "Echoes des Bastions" with Marimbaphone solo. Messrs. Wilson and Pope's duet "The East End and the West" was highly praised. Likewise Miss Muir Mackenzie's violin solo was much appreciated. These items closed the first part of the programme. The second part opened with a Selection by the Band. Next came the song "There's a land" by Mr. Abney. Gunner Harman was encored for his comic song "The Sadness of her Sadness." 'Tosti's Good-bye" by Miss Hammett and Mr. Hill's "The three Beggars" were very well rendered. None the less praiseworthy were the efforts of Mr. Wodehouse at the pianoforte solo. Miss Minnikin sang the the "Teasing." Miss Muir Mackenzie gave a violin solo and showed how homely she was with her musical instrument. Messrs. Binning and Pope's duet ended the second part of the programme. The success of the evening was due to the zealous part taken in the organization of the Concert by the Rev. G. R. A. Courtice and Lieutenat Pope, R. G. A.

There have also been Labour gains at Barrow, Blackburn, Middlesborough and Staffordshire (Hanley).

Mr. H. C. Lea (St. Pancras, East) has won a seat for his party and displaced Sir Thomas Wrightson, a director of the North-Eastern Railway Company, and of several colliery and iron concerns in the North of England.

Mr. A. Birrell, K. C., (Bristol North), the new President of the Board of Education, displaces another Unionist, the seat having hitherto been occupied by Sir Frederick Wills of "Bird's eye" fame.

Mr. A. H. Crosfield, of the Soap-boiling firm, has wrested the seat from the former Conservative representative Mr. Pierpoint who has held it since 1892. Warrington has for many years been a Conservative stronghold.

Lieut. Carlyon Bellairs R. N., (King's Lynn,) is on the Navel Half-pay List and has written largely to the Press on naval, commercial and imperial subjects. He takes the seat as a Liberal which "Tommy" Bowles has held for the past thirteen years.

Mr. J. D. Walters, (Brightside division of Sheffield), takes the seat which a Labour Candidate, sought in vain to capture for Mr. Fitzalan Hope, K.C. who succeeded the late Mr. Mundella's Radical successor in 1900.

Mr. Collins, (St Pancras West), captures a seat which Mr. H. R. Graham, a Conservative, had held since 1892.

Mr. W.H. Dickinson, in St. Pancras North, scores another victory for his party as well as for himself. Lord Lamington held the seat until he succeeded to the peerage and Mr. Moon (C) took it in 1895 by a big majority.

Mr. G. Greenwood, (Peterborough), wins a seat for the Libarals. The constituency changes its politics about once a week and Mr. Purvis, the late member, only won by 161 votes.

Mr. Lamb, at Rochester, has succeeded where Sir H. H. Johnston failed. The seat was formerly Viscount Cranbourne's (now Lord Salisbury) and on the death of the great Premier, a bye-election becoming necessary the constituency remained Conservative. Mr. Lamb has seized it for the other side.

Mr. Lawson-Watson K. C. goes back for South Leeds for the third time. Although a Radical, he was strongly anti-Boer, a fact which is said to have saved him his seat in 1900.

The Rt. Hon. H. Gladstone is again returned for West Leeds, probably by a larger majority than the 96, to which the margin had dwindled in 1900. He has represented the same division since 1886.

Mr. J. C. Buckmaster takes Cambridge for the Conservatives who through Sir R. W. Penrose-Fitzgerald have held it for many years.

Mr. R. H. Barran, in North Leeds, goes back to the seat he won at a by-election in 1902, after its vacation by the Rt. Hon. W. L. Jackson.

Mr. W. R. Cremer retains Haggerston, Shoreditch, which he has held for many years but only secured last election by the narrow majority of 24 votes. He may be regarded as a Labour representative having been a working carpenter in his youth and subsequently Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and the Joiners.

Mr. D. V. Pirie has held North Aberdeen since 1896. It was he who organised the Foreign Legion to fight with the Greeks against the Turks. He served as a Volunteer in the Remount Dept. in South Africa and was once A. D. C. to the Governor of Ceylon.

Mr. J. B. Langley (Sheffield, Attercliffe), orginally a working joiner, is now a local merchant in a large way of business who has been several times Mayor. He has represented the division since 1895.

Messrs. Harold, Cox and Macpherson at Preston take two seats for the Conservatives, the occupants upto now being Sir W. E. M. Tomblinson and Mr. J. Kerr who succeeded the Rt. Hon. R. W. Hanbury in 1903. Mr. Cox is the late Secretary of the Cobden Club, and Mr. Macpherson, a Labour representative, the Secretary of the Steel Smelters', Union.

Mr. C. Roberts, (Lincoln City) Liberal, takes the seat for which Mr. C. H. Sealy defeated him at last election by 37 votes and wins to Liberalism a borough which has long been Unionist.

Sir W. D. Pearson goes back for Colchester, a seat he won in 1895. He is a big dock and railway contractor.

Mr. P. W. Wilson, St. Pancras South, gains another seat for the Liberals, the constituency held by Captain Jessel who at last election defeated his opponent by 1190 votes.

Mr. C. E. Hobhouse, (East Bristol) won the seat in 1900. He was Private Secretary in the Colonial Office in the last Liberal Administration and served formerly in the 60th Rifles.

Mr. Jenkins, (Chatham), a Labour representative has won the seat for Sir Horatio Davies, who last election was returned unopposed, after having on the previous occasion beaten the Liberal candidate by 583 votes.

Mr. Barlow at Bedford gets the seat which Mr. Grey Pym (C) won from him in 1900 by a 267 majority and makes another gain for his party.

Mr. J. O'Grady, the Labour candidate for East Leeds, has succeeded when Mr. Byles, another Labourite failed at last election and let in Mr. Cautley (C)

Captain Meyer in North Lambeth, Liberal, takes a seat which Mr. F. W. Horner (C) won in 1900 after the death of Mr. H. M. Stanley. He is proprietor of the "Whitehall Review" His wife is "Miss Teerias" who introduced the sun-hat for horses into England.

Mr. Armitage (L) for Central Leeds takes the place of Mr. Gerald Balfour (C), the younger brother of the ex-Premier who was supposed to have a perfectly safe seat after holding it for twenty years.

Lord Robert Cecil, (Marylebone East), one of the Lord Salisbury's family, succeeded Mr. Boulnois who followed Lord Charles Beresford at a by-election. The seat has long been held by Conservatives.

Mr. Du Cros (Hastings,) wins a seat for the Unionists. Mr. Freeman-Thomas, a son-in-law of Lord Brassey, was the last member.

Mr. S. G. Bowles, (Norwood), succeeds Sir C. E. Tritton, who won by a big majority in 1892-8 and was unopposed at last election.

Captain Hervey, R. N., (Bury St. Edmunds), succeeds Sir Walter Greene without changing the colour. His father was a member for the borough for many years.

Sir Howard Vincent, (Central Sheffield), retakes the seat he had occupied since 1886. He is a great talker and has served the Conservative party faithfully for many years.

The Hon. Mr. Claude Hay (C) goes back for Shoreditch, Hoxton Division, a seat he won after several fights in 1900. He is fifth son of the late Earl of Kinnoull and was first Secretary of the Primrose League.

The Hon. E. H. Legge, (St. George's Hanover Square), son of the fourth Earl of Dartmouth and at one time Lord Ripon's Military Secretary in India, goes back for the constituency in which he succeeded Mr. Goschen at the last General Election.

Mr. Gibbs at Bristol (West) takes the seat which Sir Michael Hicks-Beach occupied; for so long an unassailable Conservative stronghold.

Mr. S. Roberts, (Sheffield, Eccleshall Divison), returns to fill the seat he was at a by-election in 1902 which had been vacated by Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett. The consitituency is invariably Conservative.

The Rt. Hon. C. B. Stuart Wortley, (Hallam, Sheffield), appears immoveable in that constituency He held office in the Home Department in two of Lord Salisbury's administrations.

Mr. J. S. Arkwright (Hereford City) was unopposed at last General Election. He is a barrister but does not practise.

Sir E. Boyle, (Taunton), succeeds Colonel Welley, also a Conservative, who was unopposed in 1895 and won the seat in 1900 by 363 votes on a poll of 2,300

Sir Samuel Scott, (Marylebone West) has been unopposed since his election in 1890. His predecessor was a partner in the same banking firm.

Mr. John Aird, (Southampton), saves a double victory for the Liberals. Hitherto the constituency has had two Conservative members except for a brief interval for many years.

Mr. Jackson, (Greenwich), takes the seat for the Liberals for which Lord Hugh Cecil defeated him in 1900 and others in previous years.

Mr. Radford, (Islington East), takes the place of Mr. B. L. Cohen and wins a seat for the Liberals which had been consistantly Conservative for the past twenty years.

Mr. Waterlow, (Islington North) scores anothe gain for the Liberals, his predecessor being Mr. W. E. T. Sharpe (C).

Mr. Wiles, (Islington South) (L) displaces Sir A. K. Rollitt, the Conservative member for twenty years

Mr. Lough (Islington West) retains the seat he won in 1892. He is a Protestant Ulsternian, but a Liberal and a Home Ruler.

Mr. Seaverns. (Brixton), takes the seat for which Sir R. G. C. Mowbray was unopposed in 1900, partly on the strength of his being a son of the late "Father of the House of Commons."

Mr. Stephen Collins, (Kensington), wins a seat for the Liberals and a great victory for his party, h is predecessor, Mr. F. L. Cook (C) having secured a majority in 1900 of 1,886 votes.

Mr. Hooper, (Dudley) wins a seat for his party, which Mr. Brooke-Robinson (C) carried by a majority of 585 in 1900 after having held since 1886.

Mr. Bes, (Gloucester), retakes the seat he won from Mr. Pandeli Ralli in 1900. He is a shipowner and merchant and deputy chairman of the Taff Vale Railway.

Mr. Broadhurst and Mr. Macdonald, both Labour Representatives, go to Parliament for Leicester. Mr. Broadhurst was first elected for that constituency in 1894 and his colleague in the last Parliament was a Conservative Sir John Rolleston. Mr. Macdonald tried for the second seat in 1900 but was lost on the list.

Messrs. Tillett and Roberts, (Norwich), are also Labourites though only the latter is so described. They have succeeded in ousting Sir Samuel Hoare and Sir Harry Bullard who were both unopposed at the last General Election.

Messrs. Emmott and Bright at Oldham give the Liberals two representatives who are correctly described. Mr. Emmett was first elected in 1899 and calls himself a Radical. His colleague up to the dissolution was Mr. Winston Churchill, then so-called a Conservative, but now a member of the Liberal Ministry.

Mr. Henry Norman, Unionalist, traveller and author, goes back for Wolverhampton South, which he took in 1900.

The Rt. Hon. Sir H. Fowler goes back to begin a third decade in the representative by Wolverhampton East, and to take over the Chancellorship of the Duchy of Lancaster, not the India Office of which he once one had charge.

Mr. Richards, a Labour candidate, displaces Sir A. Hickman (C) in Wolverhampton West, a seat he had held since 1895.

Professor Bryce, (Aberdeen South) was once offered office as Legal Adviser to the Government of India and is almost the only man who ever stood on the top of Ararat, but his services will not be required in the new Ministry, although he was once President of the Local Government Board.

Mr. McCollum (Paisley), succeeds a man of his own party, Sir William Dunn who held the seat from 1892.

Mr. Harwood (Bolton), goes back as junior member for that Constituency which he has represented since 1896. He is a Bolton cotton spinner.

Mr. Thorne, (West Ham South), tried before, as a Socialist, for that constituency and now takes the place of a Conservative, both seats for West Ham having thus been lost to Mr. Balfour.

Mr. Arnold-Forster, (Unionist), the Secretary of State for War under the late Government, has been returned for Croydon, (the late Lord Ritchie's former seat) instead of Belfast West where he beat Mr. T. Sexton in 1898 and in 1900 was unopposed.

Messrs Cairns (L) and Hudson (Labour) at Newcastle-on-Tyne take the places of two Conservatives, Sir Walter Plummer and Mr. G. Renwick, who won in 1900 by enormous majorities over Mr S. Storey and the Hon. H. Lambton and have thus won two seats.

Mr. Gill, (Labour) takes the place of Mr. Shepherd-Cross (C) at Bolton, a member whom it was felt futile to oppose at last election.

Sir Alfred Thomas (L), president of the Welsh Baptist Union, goes back for East Glamorganshire without opposition having won the seat last contest by almost two to one over Major Lindsay.

Mr. Samuel Moss, (East Denbighshire,) a barrister, retakes the seat he originally won in 1897.

Mr. Bryn Roberts (South Carnarvonshire) has been its member for twenty years. He is a prosperous Bangor Solicitor. The last Liberal majority in the division was 2594.

Mr. Jordan (Fermanagh) was first elected in 1895 and is a provision merchant and tenant farmer of Enniskillen.

Mr. Crean (South-East Cork) is more or less of a Labour representative a disciple, of Michael Davitt and Secretary of one of the Irish Trades Associations.

Mr. Sheehan (Mid Cork) is also a Nationalist Labour representative, who succeeded Dr. Tanner when che swas "muzzled for good and all."

Mr. James O'Conor (West Wicklow) goes back a third time and is another member who has seen the inside of a prison. He got fifteen years with O'Leary and O'Donovan Rossa for treasure felony and then took to journalism.

Mr. Osmond Williams (Merrionethshire) has been unopposed since 1899 and the constituency has been consistently Liberal.

Mr. Markam (Mansfield, Nottinghamshire) of the Tredegar Iron and Coal Company and many other collieries got a majority of 2369 at last election.

Sir Charles Dilke (Forest of Dean Division of Gloucestershire) has represented that constituency since 1892. He entered the House first in 1868 for Chelsea. He was Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs and President of the Local Government Board under Mr. Gladstone in days gone by.

Mr Abraham (Rhondda Division of Glamorganshire) has been unopposed for that constituency since 1886. He was a working miner and may be classed with the Labourites.

Mr. Abel Thomas K. C. (East Carmarthershire) has represented the constituency since 1890. He knows when to hold his tongue and, "according to Mr. Labouchere, did so with tremendous effect on one occasion, for to him is assigned the part of sitting with the Hawksley letters in his pocket and thereby terrorising Mr. Chamberlain into whitewashing Mr. Rhodes."

Colonel Saunderson (North Armagh) has been in the House since 1865 and it would now appear strange without him. It is said he was the only man who could make Mr. Gladstone laugh when attacking the Home Rule Government.

Mr. Berridge at Warwick and Leamington throws Mr. Chamberlain's successor as Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Alfred Lyttelton. He is quite a new man in the conflict of this constituency.

Mr. John Burns (Battersea) the new President of the Local Government Board, has defied and defeated his calumniators and galloped away with a substantial majority.

Mr. Cornwall (North-East Bethnal Green) has thrown Sir Muncherje Bhownaggree, and now the Parsi community has no longer a direct representative, both their candidates having been rejected.

Mr. Hazell (West Bromwich) unseats Mr. J. E. Spencer, Conservative, who has represented the constituency for fifteen years and was directly interested in the affairs of the town.

Mr. Vivian (Birkenhead) unseats Sir Elliott Lees who has been member there for ten years and fought in South Africa as a Volunteer.

Mr. Houston (West Toxteth) goes back for the third time. He is an engineer and shipbuilder and the head of a line of steamers bearing his name.

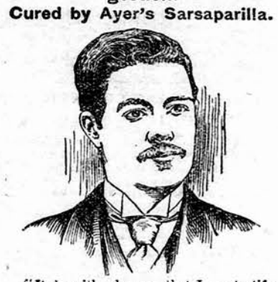
Suffered Terribly from Indigestion. Cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.



"It is with pleasure that I can testify to the great benefit I derived from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I suffered terribly from indigestion, and tried several medicines without avail. I was then persuaded to take and after using a few bottles my indigestion was cured, my appetite came back, and I was strong and hearty. This is some years since, and my old complaint has not returned, but I always keep a bottle in the house, and when I feel at all out of sorts a few doses put me right again in quick order."—W. SINKINSON, Mt. Torrens, S. A.

There are many imitation Sarsaparillas. Be sure you get "AYER'S."

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

(Concluded from page 6.)

Colonel Ropner, (Stockton) formerly a German subject, is a self-made man and was a wealthy shipowner. He won the seat first in 1900.

Mr. Rutherford (U) (West Derby Liverpool) steps into the vacancy of Mr. S. W. Higginbottom, a Conservative, a colliery proprietor and shipowner.

Mr. W. L. A. B. Burdett Coutts, the husband of the Baroness of that name. goes back for the fifth time for the same constituency.

Mr. Hills, Tariff Reformer and Unionist, at Durham city, has unseated the Hon. A. R. D. Elliot, the Unionist, who has sat for the constituency since 1898.

Mr. Priestley (Grantham) three times unsuccessfully contested Stamford before winning for his present constituency in 1900.

Mr. Seeley (Abercromby division of Liverpool) has represented that division since 1885. He is a West Indian capitalist, therefore does not practise at the Bar, to which he was called in 1871.

Sir G. Newnes (Swansea) has been in Parliament since 1885. He is the proprietor of the "Westminster Gazette" and a host of magazines and periodicals most noted of which are "Tit-bits" and ten "Strand Magagine."

Mr. Cherry (Liverpool, Exchange Division), gains a seat for the Liberals, which was until now occupied by Mr. C. Mc Arthur (Unionist)

Mr. Fell (Great Yarmouth) displaces Sir John Colomb who was returned unopposed in 1900. No change takes place in party.

Mr. Banner, (Liverpool, Everton), succeeded one of the same colour, Sir J.A. Willox in February last year and goes back to continue his representation.

Mr. D. MacIver, (Liverpool, Kirkdale), goes back again to represent the constituency for which he was elected in 1900 in succession to Sir G. Baden-Powell. He is a local steamship owner.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor goes back for the Scotland Division of Liverpool. Everyone knows "Tay Pay," the editor of "M. A. P."

Sir E. Sassoon returns to his seat for Hythe by an increased majority. He entered Parliament in 1899.

Mr. Walter Runciman, (Dewsbury), returns to the seat he won at a by-election in 1902.

Mr. Wedgwood, (Newcastle-under-Lynn), wins a seat for his party for Sir Seale Hallam (U). The new representative is of the old potter family.

Mr. J. A. Baker, (Finsbury East), returns to the seat he was at a by-election a year ago on the death of Mr. H. C. Richards.

Mr. Pickersgill, (South-West Bethnal Green), gains another seat for the Liberals, the former member being Mr. Forde Ridley who defeated Mr. Pickersgill in 1900. The latter gentleman has however, twice represented the constituency before.

Mr. Mason, (Coventry), displaces a Conservative who won in 1900 by over a thousand votes.

Mr. McCrae, (Edinburgh East). an Auld Ruskin Draper won the seat at a by-election in 1899.

Mr. Price, (Edinburgh Central), takes the place of another Liberal, Mr. G. McKenzie Brown, who defeated Sir Conan Doyle at the last General Election.

Mr. P. M. Thornton (Clapham) has held the seat since 1892 against much opposition. He belongs to a banking family long associated with the district.

Mr. Smith, (Liverpool, Walton), continues the Conservative representation of that constituency which has never had a Liberal member during the past twenty years.

Mr. Hall (Shrewsbury) takes the place of Mr. H. D. Greene K. C. who is also Conservative as the constituency is unvaryingly so.

Sir W. Bull (Hammersmith), a local solicitor, has represented the borough since 1900 when he won by 1779 votes.

Viscount Valentia, (Oxford), has been member for that city since the death by Sir George Chesney in 1896. He has been Comptroller of the Royal Household and served as a Yeoman in South Africa.

Mr. Duckworth and Mr. Wardle, (Stockport) have taken the places of two good Conservatives, Sir J. Leigh and Mr. B. V. Melville, who won five years ago after a hard battle.

Mr. Hyders at Wednesbury wins the seat from Mr. Walford Green, a local Conservative.

Mr. Davis, (Fulham), has carried the seat of Mr. Hayes Fisher, the progressive and constructive Conservative, who had held the seat since 1885 and was a Junior Lord of the Treasury and Ministerial, Whig in 1886.

Mr. Sears at Cheltenham unseats Mr. Agg-Gardner who first won the seat in 1974 after two unsuccessful attempts. Mr. Sears was hitherto unknown in Parliamentary contests and Mr. Agg-Gardner was considered to be absolutely safe.

Mr. Dewar at Edinburgh South has succeeded when twice previously he failed, Sir A. A. Agnew now unseated winning by substantial victories.

Messrs. Villiers and Ridsdale at Brighton displace Mr. Gerald Loder and Mr. B. Wentworth, two Consertatives, who seemed to have grown an integral party of the constituency.

Mr. Robertson goes back for Dundee which he has represented for many years and served under a Liberal Government as Civil Lord of the Admiralty.

Sir L. MacIver, (Edinburgh West), returns to his old seat. He was at one time a Madras Civilian and contributed to the "Gazetteer of India," the sections referring to that Presidency.

Mr. Remount, (Holborn Finsbury) returned to the seat for which he was unopposed at last election and at previous by-election on the death of Sir Charles Hall.

Major Coates, (Lewisham) retakes the seat he won at a by-election by two thousand votes in 1903.

Mr. Mason, (Windsor), succeeds Sir F. T. Barry who was unopposed at last election.

Sir Edward Clarke and Mr. Gibbs (London City) have demonstrated their wisdom in declining to withdraw in obedience to the clamour of an over zealous band of their constituents who wished them to make room for Lord Curzon. Moreover, they keep the representation unquestionably Conservative.

FLORILINE.—For the Teeth and Breath.—A few drops of the liquid Floriline sprinkled on a wet toothbrush produces a pleasant lather, which thoroughly cleanses the teeth from all parasites or impurities, hardens the gums, prevents tartar, stops decay, gives to the teeth a peculiar pearly whiteness and a delightful fragrance to the breath. It removes all unpleasant odour arising from decayed teeth or tobacco smoke. The Fragrant Floriline being composed in parts of Honey and Sweet Herbs, is delicious to the taste, and the greatest toilet discovery of the age. Of all Chemists and Perfumers. NOTES FROM PARIS.

Municipal Visitors.

THE COMING OF THE "ALL BLACKS."

CHRISTMAS POSTMEN.

PARIS DEC. 29.

Full arrangements have been made by the Paris Municipal Council for the reception in Paris on Jan. 2, 1906, of Major-General Lord Cheylesmore, Mayor of Westminister, and the aldermen, councillors, and civic officials who will accompany him. The visitors from Westminster will be met by M. Paul Brousse and conducted over the Hotel de Ville, where a luncheon will be given at noon in the banqueting-hall. All the representative officials of the city, with members of the Municipal Council and of the Council General, will attend the luncheon. Subsequently the visitors will be shown the arrangement and working of the principal municipal services. including fire brigade stations. In the evening Lord Cheylesmore and those with him will be present at a performance in a theatre to be yet selected. The programme of reception agreed to is to be carried out by M. Bouvard, who is called the Directeur des Fetes of the Hotel de Ville.

One of those who uphold the cause of the anti-militarists, now being tried in the Paris Assize Court for inflammatory proclamations to soldiers and sailors of the national forces, is M. Anatole France. Unlike M. Jaures and Maitre Labori, the novelist and Academician did not go to court to give evidence in favour of the prisoners, but he sent a characteristic letter to the presiding judge, who read it out. M. France wrote as follows: Monsieur le President—Being unable to go to the Assize Court, I beg you to excuse me. Called as a witness, I would have asked your leave to say merely this. Are there still such things as crimes of opinion? is so much rigour for a placarded address wise? You can't prevent men from thinking. What profit can be derived from preventing them saying what they think? Allow them to have the arm of speech if you want to hinder them from taking up other arms. Gentlemen of the jury, take care! There has been discovered at the outset of these proceedings a very low electoral trick. Patriotism is an advantageous programme which dispenses with all plans of reform. You will not, I trust, be the accomplices of professional patriots who are the worst enimies of their country. Receive, Monsieur le President, &c. —ANATOLE FRANCE.

The judge made no remarks on this letter, but went on to hear witnesses for the defence. The first of these called to-day was M. Sebastien Faure, a writer and orator of very lurid theories. He denounced the trial as an anachronism, and said that it was scandalous to attempt to muzzle free opinions 100 years after the Declaration of the Rights of Man. A few other witnesses of minor note having been called, the Advocate-General delivered his address for the prosecution. He denied that opinion and thought had been curbed. The accused persons were actually proceeded against under a law which abolished delits d'opinion, but they were guilty of provocation to murder and of inciting soldiers to disobey order. They were guilty of a violent act, likely to trouble the public peace. The Advocate-General denied the utility of the so-called international anti-militarist association in a country like France, where a Republic exists, with full freedom of the Press and of public meeting. As to the part of the address issued by the accused relative to war, the Advocate-General could only say that every sensible man knew that there were times when it became inevitable that a nation should fly to arms for the defence of independence and liberty. Finally, the speaker called on the jury to show the country that men should not be allowed to incite to the murder of military officers and to desertion of military duty before the enemy. Some of the accused persons next made speeches in their own defence, Footballers here are to be given a handsome New Year's treat by the union which rules all French athletic clubs. This is to be nothing less than an exhibition by the famous "All Blacks" on the Jour de l'An. I can hardly call the proposed encounter with a French team a match, because it is so obvious that the New Zealander fifteen and its opposing host will be in the positions of the cat and the mouse. The Frenchmen will be a picked team from the two leading Paris Rugby clubs—the Racing Club and the Stade Francais and also from Lyons, Bordeaux, and Toulouse bodies, chosen as the best players by the union. But it is an absolute fact that the fifteen thus made up will never have worked together before. The idea of opposing such a team to the "All Blacks" is humorous. All one can hope is that the latter will not take it too easily, but give us here, who have not seen them in the field, some show of their quality, however little they may be required by their adversaries to do so. The Frenchmen have hopes of not losing by more than twenty or thirty goals. The certainty of defeat, however does not diminish the interest felt heer among Parisians who follow and practise outdoor games, and whose numbers have been multiplied not by ten, but by a hundred, in the past ten years. The New Zealanders will arrive in Paris on the evening before, travelling through from Swansea. It is stated that they draw £100 for the match and half the gate money. The arrange- ment of the event proves, on the part of the French Union of Athletic Societies and of the Racing Club and Stade Francais, which have been the real movers in the undertaking, an amount of sporting enterprise which would have been unthinkable in Paris not many years ago.

For such as have not overdone the festivel of the night before, a stroll along the open-air fair of the Boulevards is the favourite way of spending Christmas morning. As if a fairy had been at work during these past few hours, the grand arteries of the city, from the Madeleine to the Place de la Republique, have been metamorphosed into a vast encampment—a veritable arsenal of doll-land. There is one continuous line of little booths on either side of the street. In these booths you may purchase a wondrous variety of tiny articles to garnish a Christmas tree or fill the shoe of little Jean placed in readiness in the fireplace for the descent of the Bonhomme Noel. But the fair is not exclusively for the tiny person. It concerns itself with such grosser needs as umbrellas and articles of clothing furniture, strange and motley, for empty bookshelves and a hundred matters of household equipment which can be but mysteries, desperately grown-up. for the little clients of good St. Nicholas Sometimes the note has pathos in it almost to bring tears, as when an elderly couple of the working class search eargerly the stalls to discover the present for the little grandchild that may best fit their modest means. And two sons, even on the Boulevards goes no great way.

All the town will be on foot on Sunday evening to celebrate Reveillon. It is the gayest moment in all the year. It is then that Paris best merits its appellation of La Ville Lumiere. Tables are engaged at the restaurants weeks beforehand. The feasting begins early in the evening and lasts until any hour of the morning. The lat stars have played out of the sky before the last roysterer finds his way to bed. Turkey stuffed with chestnuts, oysters and champagne, are the traditional fare. The poorer classes eat, with great gusto, a fearsome compound known as boudin—a species of black pudding—which is washed down with as good a white wine as the restaurateur will provide for the money. It is the one occasion when excess in good cheer is not to be imputed as a crime. Victims of Reveillon are to be heard, late on the next afternoon, calling weakly to the waiter in the habitual restaurant for dry toast and tea. The magic hour comes at midnight when each man toasts his neighbour in a bumper, clinks his glass and claims the best the gods can give him. The pious and even the most worldly-minded attend mass in the churches. Most attractive is the service at St. Eustache, that interesting and venerable pile near the central markets, where the choir is swelled by the choicest voices of the Opera.

THE NATIVE PRESS.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. DIGBY.

The "Indian Spectator" remarks:—Many of his Indian friends will rejoice at the form given to the memorial to the late Mr. William Digby, and at the enthusiasm that marked the opening ceremony under Sir George Birdwood. Among the speakers we specially notice the name of Mr. Martin Wood, whose services to Bombay were no less valuable than those of Mr. Digby to Madras, though the latter ranged over a wider field of activity. Let us hope that the recognition of Mr. Digby's services may stimulate his sons to give a portion of their time to India.

THE LATE PROFESSOR SPIEGEL.

The Rast Goftar observes:—The Parsis have a duty to perform, and we hope they would not be found wanting in their appreciation of the valuable and unique services which the great scholar has done in elucidating the languages of their beloved religion. Professor Spiegel's disinterested and studious exertions have offered material help in unfolding the mysteries of their religion. The Parsis are specially indebted to the Professor, for the old and venerable Mr. K. R. Cama borrowed his instructions in the ancient languages from this renowned scholar, under whom he had taken tuition in the early fifties. The unparalled interest and enthusiasm which Parsi students and Ervads nowadays exhibit in a study of their religious scriptures is due to the efforts of Mr. Cama, and as Mr. Cama borrowed his inspiration from this great savant, we hope that the Parsis would do something to perpetuate his memory in some tangible form. It is only very meet and proper that the Mullaftoos and Sir J. J. Madressa have decided, we hear, to send to the deceased's family letters of condolence and sympathy.

BOMBAY MUNICIPAL FINANCE.

The "Kaiser-i-Hind thus comments on what it calls the unbusiness-like method of balancing income with expenditure in Bombay Municipal Finance:—To those who have carefully watched the trend of our civic finance since 1902, it is as plain as the pike-staff that the way in which the annual municipal Budget is prepared for the final consideration of the Corporation is certainly open to serious objection. Anyhow no banker or merchant, imbued with the principles of sound finance, would ever care to prepare his balance sheet in the way the Municipal Finance Department manufactures it. There is no serious effort whatever to bring an equilibrium between revenue and expenditure. Each Budget is left with a larger or smaller deficit, to be met with at the close of the year on the off-chance of better income and savings in expenditure, and on the remainder being made up by a large dip in what is called the surplus cash balance. Were the annual estimates of receipts and expenditure prepared with anything like the caution and the circumspection demanded by the exigencies of the year and fortified by sound principles of public finance, no fat surpluses, such as are annually produced by the arithmetical gymnastics of the Financial Department, would at all be available. The very fact of this annual surplus varying from 10 to 20 lakhs, and even more, tells its own tale of the haphazard finance to which we have referred.

ANNUAL INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE.

The "Indian Spectator" thus speaks of the Industrial Conference held at Benares:—Like the National Congress and the Social Conference we shall hereafter have an annual Industrial Conference. Each gathering has its own peculiar work assigned to it, and comparisons are as unnecessary as they would be irrelevant. Without invidiousness it may be stated that the latest addition to the December gatherings cannot be less useful than the parent of them all. At Benares the Conference was not one of professional industrialists, and the resolutions were innocent of all technical flavour. The amateur must have the way and lay the foundation. He is good enough for the purpose of creating a general interest in local industries and awakening the industrial conscience of the country. The first Conference lasted only a few hours, and most of the papers, kindly sent by eminent friends, were taken as read, there being no discussion. Several of these papers, perhaps all, have been published. Dewan Bahadur Raghunath Rau, as a devout Aryan, sent his blessings. Dewan Bahadur Krishnaswami Rau, as an ex-administrator, urged the establishment of a technological institute in Southern India. Mr. R. C. Dutt, as a historian, related the story of the rise and fall of the Indian manufacturing industries, and, as a minister to H. H. the Gaekwar of Baroda gave some interesting particulars relating to industrial progress and activity in that State. Rajadharmapravina Thambu Chetty paid a compliment to the Maharaja of Mysore, and dwelt upon the importance of strengthening the "village units." The Hon. Mr. Vithaldas D. Thackersey comprehensively surveyed the "past, present and future prospects" of the Indian cotton industry. The most notable papers contributed by Native gentlemen may, from a practical point of view, be said to have been those of the Hon. Mr. D. A. Khare and Mr. Patel of Baroda. Mr. Khare suggested the establishment of a Bureau of Commercial Intelligence, similar to that originally proposed by Lord Curzon's Government. There was much truth in his remark that mere conferences and exhibitions "will do nothing."

OFFICIAL REPORTS REGARDING THE CROPS.

The "Gujerati" discourses: Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and the Princess of Wales have witnessed only scenes of grandeur and magnificence and signs of prosperity. That was of course unavoidable, though much to be deplored. In this Presidency the condition of the agricultural classes is anything but happy or prosperous. The weekly official reports are more remarkable for their silence than for the information they give. In fact, we have not seldom found them not only unduly optimistic but even misleading in important respects. For some weeks past hard pressed agriculturists have been going out of their districts in quest of work. In not a few places the scarcity of water is being already felt and with the lapse of a few more weeks the condition of the people is likely to become more serious. The present situation is already more ominous than official reporters imagined. The suspensions and remissions already granted by government will afford some relief. But they do not go far enough.

STANDARD TIME.

The vernacular papers continue denouncing the adoption of standard time in Bombay. Says the Gujerati:—Standard time was introduced in Bombay on the morning of New Year's day. The change was altogether uncalled for. Except a very small minority none wanted any alteration in the system that had prevailed all along in this city. But the reign of uniformity was in the ascendant. Public opinion was nowhere in the eyes of the great Viceregal autocrat who has already sunk into obscurity in England at least for some time. There was a good deal of wire-pulling and canvassing and important public bodies were brought round to adopt the new fad of standard time. Public opinion was manipulated in this fashion and with the dawn of the New Year Bombay witnessed a change at any rate in government offices and in Anglo-Indian and certain Indian firms. But the rest of the city has generally refused to respond to the official mandate. The Corporators, more conversant with the views and feelings of the people, have not allowed the Municipal clock to be set to standard time. Millowners have already found themselves in an awkward predicament. Even in Government and Railway offices there is a good deal of grumbling amongst clerks and other subordinate officers who have to attend nine minutes earlier. In temples and other religious institutions the old arrangement has been maintained. The dock labourers are not pleased with standard time, and the majority of Hindus object to the change altogether.

THE WEATHER.

OBSERVATIONS TAKEN AT 8 A.M., ON WEDNESDAY, THE 17TH JAN.

SUMMARY.

Pressure has risen briskly at Neagapatam, Cochin and Calicut and has changed irregularly and by small amounts elsewhere.

Winds are very variable in direction and the force has been fresh to light.

Temperature.—The variations of the minimum show an excess of 5° to 10° at Coimbatore, Madras Cuddapah, Masulpatam, Hyderabad (Deccan) Bellary, Calicut, Mangalore, Karwar, Bijapur, Belgaum and Sholapur and a defect of 5° to 14° at several other stations. The highest temperature in the shade was 93° at Ratnagiri and Mangalore and the lowest 37° at Jubbulpore.

Cloud and Humidity.—The sky is densely clouded in the Madras Presidency, on the Malabar Coast and at Belgaum, Bijapur, Sholapur, Raipur and Sirsa.

Rain.—Cochin and Cuddapah report over two inches, Madras 1·55" ,Trichinopoly 1·15" and Negapatam Bellary and Calicut light to moderate showers Bushire reports light showers.

Weather in the Bombay Presidency is likely to be slightly affected by weather conditions at present prevailing over the Madras Presidency.

PURELY PERSONAL.

THERE is no old member of the House of Commons who will not feel a pang of personal regret at hearing that Labby is leaving that assembly. No one has a right to criticise a man for giving up an active life at seventy-four years of age—he has done his work. But Labby had become an almost essential part of the House of Commons, and there never will be anybody who can quite take his place ther. That extraordinary combination of strong party zeal, with a lurking desire to make mischief the sardonic and satirical spirit mingled with a certain fierce, though carefully conceal d zeal for the public good the mordant wit that was equally the delight of the House and of the smokeroom, the world-wide and varied expences of all life in almost every country and in almost every form—these are the possessions of but one man, and his like we shall never see again.

There are two Labbys. There is the Labby who almost corrod s with his betterwit, and who seems to laugh at everything in life. There is the other Labby who has strong stern purposewho hates all shaws, all cruelty, all imposture, all folly, and who has made war on all these things for more than a quarter of a century. There is even a third Labby—the man who hates to give pain even to a domestic, and who is laughingly said to run out of a room rather than face the irritated looks of a maidservant whom he had summoned by too vigorous a pull at the bell One of the reasons of the popularity, Labby enjoyed in the House was his tolerant amiability. I have seen him in the smoke-room in the most friendly converse with many a man whom in previous years he had fiercely attacked; he bore no ill-will, and treated all those encounters as demanded by business, and as dismissable when the fight was over.

Finally, Labby was a far straighter, far more serious, far more effective politician than his own persiflage would allow people to think. With all his light wit, there was something stern and rigid in the man, as you could see from the powerful mouth, with the full, compressed lips. He was perfectly honest in his hatred of extravagance, pretence, vain glory. He preferred riding in a tram car to riding in a coach-and-four. He dressed so shabbily sometimes that his counsel used to have to remonstrate with him when he had to answer a charge of libel. He was an ascetic in eating. Once he dined quite comfortably, when he was electioneering, on ham sandwiches, with sponge cake for bread. He rarely, if ever, tasted wine; he smoked incessantly the poorest and cheapest cigarettes. As he was in private so he was in public life. He derided all great Imperial designs as snobbery and extravagance; he hated ambition—in short, he was, in both his personal habits and his public opinions, a true devotee of the Simple Life. He did immense service to his party in his time. During the heat of the Home Rule controversy he spoke in scores of towns; took journeys by night and by day, never spared himself exertion; never complained of discomfort; in his laughing way, with his assumed air of languor, he was a strenuous, manly, courageous fighter. And he never changed, he never concealed, he never explained away his opinion upon anything. And so I bid him with regret farewell from a scene where he was a model of honesty, good faith, and courage.

From whom does Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman take his view point on politics—from his father's side or his mother's? Here is the answer a Glasgow correspondent gives to the question. He tells how as a lad he used to be sent to the celebrated warehouse of the Campbell family. In those days the future Liberal Premier frequented the office, and even as a youth was, a keen politician with very advanced views. Indeed, says my old friend, the heads of the firm looked aghast as they heard Mr. Henry air what to them were no doubt revolutionary opinions while old Mr. Campbell would shake his head and murmur. He's no a Campbell, he's a Bannerman.

Baulked of his intention to enter the House of Commons as plain Auberon Thomas Herbert, through his succession to the Barony of Lucas, vacated by his uncle the late Earl Cowper, Lord Lucas is still to be associated with the Commons in the new Administration as one of the Private Secretaries (unpaid) to Mr Haldane, the Secretary of State for War. It is in this direction that promotion lies, and it will probably come to Lord Lucas, who is clever and not yet thirty. He is the descendant of the Duke of Ormonde, known in history as the Great, and of his son the Earl of Ossory. He is more to be proud of in the descent from these ill-fated soldiers than their bravery in battle, In the corrupt court of Charles II. the historian has singled out the careers of the Duke of Ormonde and his son, the Earl of Ossory as being unique in their freedom from even the suspicion of double-dealing.

Sitting as Lord Lucas in the English Peerage, the newest addition to the ranks of the Liberal Peers is also Lord Dingwall in the Peerage of Scotland and this is the outward sign of his descent from the Duke of Ormonde, whose Duchess was the Baroness Dingwall in her own right. He is thus a peer of England and Scotland, and he might have been Earl of Desmond in Ireland but for a little matchmaking plan of James I. which miscarried after that monarch's death.

The present Earl of Denbigh is also Earl of Desmond in the Peerage of Ireland, but it is not through family descent. James I intended the daughter of Richard Preston, Earl of Desmond, to be the wife of George Fielding, second son, of the first Earl of Denbigh. But after the death of James, the Duke of Ormonde fell in love with Preston's daughter, who was his cousin, and Charles I. sanctioned the marriage, especially as it ended a feud between the Ormonde and Desmond families. But in anticipation of the marriage of Elizabeth Preston with George Fielding, and that gentleman, had been given the reversion of the Earldom of Desmond on Preston's death. Preston was drowned in the Irish Sea, and his Earldom fell to Fielding and is now one of the titles of the Earl of Denbigh. From the Duchess of Ormonde, who might otherwise have transmitted the Desmond title the young Lord Lucas derives the Barony of Dingwall alone.

May I supplement your paragraph on Sir Alfred Jones which appeared in a recent issue, by giving a brief outline of his daily day? (writes a Liverpool correspondent). Rising at six a.m., by seven, Sir Alfred is ready to receive his two secretaries, who arrive at that hour with letters and papers. The early morning business is conducted at his residence, Oaklands, Aigburth a charming house presided over by his sister. From seven to eight Sir Alfred and his secretaries are busily employed with a mass of correspondence. At eight breakfast is served and during the meal the news in the papers and the special letters are discussed. Immediately afterwards important letters are answered and various telegrams despatched. Deputations follow, and these vary considerably in number all being more or less important and generally dealing with foreign affair.

Sir Alfred is a quiet thinker and a swift worker, and by eleven o'clock he is ready to start to town. Reaching the office about eleven-thirty the remainder of the morning is taken up with interviews which be it noted are usually brief, correspondence and general business. Lunch at the Chamber of Commerce is followed by a committee meeting of the latter, with Sir Alfred in the chair. Other engagements are fulfilled, and five o'clock Sir Alfred returns home to work until eleven or twelve o'clock with but a short interval for dinner This programme appertains more particularly to Monday, but with slight variations it is typical of Sir, Alfred's business day. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the same work is undertaken in London in Straiton Street, where the "Banana King," as he is frequently called, lives during his stay in that City. Friday sees him in Cardiff conducting his huge shipping concerns. Sir Alfred Jones can truly be called the busiest man in Liverpool.

It may be interesting to know (writes a correspondent) that G. B. S. wrote a large portion if not the whole, of "Major Barbara" in Ireland, in a charming old house named Derry in the south of Cork. If ever there were a study in contrasts it is presented by the place where Major Barbara grew up and those which her author placed her. Derry is old and lovely—not very large, but beautifully situated in a sheltered spot close to the Atlantic at a part where a lighthouse is necessary for the safety of seafarers and within easy walking distance of a fine bathing strand. Major Barbara who has caused so much excitement in London was created not a mile away from the very ancient town of Roscarbery which was founded by a saint—St. Fachnan—one thousand and three hundred years ago. A cathedral too the saint had built and on its site there now stands a church nearly seven hundred years old. Very ancient too, is the memorial to one Captain Hungerford—a relation of Mrs. Shaw's ancestors—the third in descent from Walter de Hungerford of the County of Worcester who took the Duke of Orleans prisoner at the Battle of Agincourt and was Lord High Chamberlain in the reign of Edward III.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere.

For the use of infants FROM BIRTH upwards. All that is necessary in adapting it for children of different ages is to make slight variations in mixing.

MELLIN'S LACTO GLYCOSE

Prepared from Mellin's Food and fresh cow's milk. This Food is for temporary use where fresh cow's milk cannot be obtained, or where for any reason milk falls under suspicion. For use, mix with warm water only. It forms a palatable food beverage for adults.

MELLIN'S FOOD BISCUITS

A solid food, easy of digestion, and recommended for children after weaning, and for those who require a readily digested, concentrated nutrient at any period of life.

Samples and directions for use printed in Native Languages, together with a work on the "Care of Infants in India," can be had on application.
